REGULARS FIRE ON OHIO MILITIA

Guardsman Is Killed, One Fatally Shot and Two May Die.

MARTIAL LAW IS ON

United States and State Officers Immediately Take Charge of Situation.

GREW OUT OF AN ARREST

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATHENS, O., Aug. 19.—Soldiers, said to belong to Troop F, Fourth regular cavalry, and encamped with the First brigade, Ohio National Guard, attacked a patrol of provost guards on the streets of Athens, at 7:30 o'clock this evening, killing one, fatally injuring one, and probably fatally wounding two others. The fight took place in front of Sheriff Murphy's home, adjoining the court house. Fifteen minutes after the battle on the street, the city was declared under martial law and hundreds of soldiers were sent into the town to restore order. None of the rioters has been captured.

THE DEAD.

CORPORAL CHARLES CLARK, 21 years old, member of Company D of the Fifth Ohio National Guard, stationed at Cleveland, but whose home is at Warren. He was a machinist by occupation.

THE INJURED.

WATSON N. OHL, private, Company D, struck upon the head with rifle and skull fractured; may die.

CORPORAL ALBERT HEALD, Company D, shot through abdomen; may die.

SERGEANT WILLIAM BLESSING, Company D, shot through thighs; will die.

Caused by Arrests of Regulars.

The trouble, according to the reports of all the militia officers, started over the arrest of several regular army privates by provost guards in the town of Athens, since the opening of the camp last Tuesday.

The ill feeling became extremely bitter this afternoon, when Private Kelly of the Twenty-seventh was arrested on a charge of drunkenness. Kelly resisted, emptied his revolver without doing any damage and was finally clubbed into insensibility, bound hand and foot and taken to jail. This precipitated the trouble.

This evening the Warren company stationed in the Second brigade, and in charge of Capt. F. S. Van Gorder, was ordered to do provost duty in Athens. The company arrived about 7 o'clock and a detail in charge of Sergt. Blessing had just gone to South Court street to station several men on the road leading to the "Shuttle" train depot, where soldiers leave for the several camps. By the time he had posted the men and was on the return Sergt. Blessing heard the tramping of many feet on the same street about a square away. Meanwhile Corporal Clark had been sent with two men to station them at the intersection of Congress and Washington streets, as it was reported that a disturbance had taken place in that part of the town. The men were to prevent the disorderly soldiers from reaching Athens proper.

Commenced March Ending in Murder.

Meanwhile the crowd heard by Sergt. Blessing had formed in front of the Hotel Berry, on Court street, and with a yell and many curses at the militiamen they commenced the march that ended in the killing of Corporal Clark and the injuring of his three comrades. The crowd turned into Washington street and went to the home of Sheriff Andy Murphy and to the jail, the headquarters for the provost guard parties. Murphy came in for a share of their attention, as he was roundly cursed by the rioters for his part in allowing their comrades to be locked up in the bastile. Murphy thought that an attack was about to be made upon his home. At the time he was entertaining several friends. He and his family were seated on the veranda. All were hurried into the house and told to go into the basement. Later on a reporter found a Winchester rifle on the safe in his parlor, showing that he had intended guarding his home.

With jeers the mob passed Murphy and walked about 25 feet when they ran into Corporal Clark and his party of six men. Clark, his comrades claim, halted them and demanded that they disperse, holding his bayonet at the breast of the leader of the rioters. Other men in the party did the same, but the rifles, although the largest and most modern make, were unloaded and not a bullet was in possession of the handful of provosts who boldly attempted to hold at bay a mob which, it is claimed, amounted to at least 150 men, all in uniform.

Mob Jeered the Corporal.

Clark was heard to ask the crowd to break up and at the same time asked to see their passes. The mob jeered him. A moment later a shot rang out, which was followed by over 100. The bullets were fired in all directions.

After the shooting for some time the mob took up the march and walked as far as Congress street, when it broke up into small parties, some taking to the trails over the country for the camp, while others went direct over the railroad.

After the crowd had disappeared, the few persons who had remained in the square saw the bodies of four men lying in the street. A hurried examination showed that all four were alive. Clark, who was seen to be the worst injured, was immediately carried into a physician's office, but died as soon as he was laid upon the operating table. The bullet passed through the heart.

Private Ohl, Heald and Sergt. Blessing were immediately given medical attention. The former had been struck upon the head with a butt end of a Krag-Jorgensen rifle, which rendered him unconscious, his skull being fractured.

Private Heald was shot through the abdomen.

Blessing was shot through the thighs. He was taken to the Hotel Berry, where he was given medical attention. He may die. Heald is in danger of dying from Desperate Orders to Russian Admiral Should Port Arthur Be Taken.

Baltic Squadron Is Standing Off Cronstadt With Full Steam Up.

FINAL STAND AT FORTRESS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—Chinese who embarked from Liao-Tien-Shan promontory at 11 o'clock yesterday morning report the continuance of heavy fighting. They say the Japanese have occupied Pigeon bay and are within striking distance of the Liao-Tien-Shan forts, which, however, are still occupied by the Russians. According to the Chinese the Russians at Port Arthur are making their final stand.

The Japanese position at Palung-Chang, from which they poured a heavy fire into Port Arthur and the inner forts, has been retaken, the Japanese retiring to Shu-Shi-Yan.

The German authorities at Tsing-Tau have sent a guard of 100 men to a point 15 miles east of that place for the purpose of frustrating an expected attempt on the part of the Japanese to erect a wireless telegraph station.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 20.—(2:10 a. m.)—Acute anxiety prevails regarding the situation at Port Arthur on account of the desperate character of the fighting as reported taking place, though the war office does not seem to believe that danger of the fall of the fortress is so imminent as is generally asserted. According to advices received by the war office, there is still an ample supply of ammunitions and provisions there. While it is realized that the Japanese probably outnumber the defenders six or seven fold, the great strength of the fortifications, it is believed, will do much to make up for the disparity in numbers.

Ships Ordered Destroyed.

Upon one point there is absolute unanimity here—namely, that if the fortress falls the fleet will not fall into the hands of the Japanese. On this point the admiralty's instructions are of the most imperative character. Vice Admiral Prince Ouktomsky has been ordered, should the worst come, to sally forth for a death struggle, and there is no question here that these instructions will be carried out both in letter and in spirit. If for any reason a final sortie proved to be impossible, the admiral is to destroy his five ships, which include the Pallada, and to make certain that their wreckage shall be absolutely irreparable.

In the meantime Vice Admiral Rojestvesky's Baltic squadron, including the battleship Orel, is standing off Cronstadt with steam up. It is popularly expected that the squadron will sail at any hour, and it is quite true that it is ready for almost immediate departure, but regarding the question of sailing there is a difference of opinion among the naval authorities. It is held on the one hand that the immediate sailing of the squadron would be the best policy, as, should it arrive within two months, it would find Admiral Togo's fleet in infinitely worse condition than if the Japanese were allowed the whole winter to repair and refit the ships.

Opinion Is Divided.

The advocates of an immediate sailing hold that the port of Vladivostok is capable of receiving the squadron even should entrance to Port Arthur prove to be impracticable, and they wish to treat the Port Arthur squadron for the present as a negligible quantity, letting the Baltic sea vessels meet the Japanese in the present weakened condition, without relying for any certain assistance either on Vice Admiral Ouktomsky or Vice Admiral Skrydioff. Other officials hold that it would be useless to risk sending the Baltic squadron to the far east until the situation at Port Arthur has been cleared, and until it is known what conditions the squadron would be likely to find on its arrival.

Grand Duke Boris, who is on the way to St. Petersburg from the far east, is bringing a letter on behalf of Gen. Kuropatkin and his army, congratulating the emperor on the birth of an heir to the throne.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST RULER OF AUSTRIANS

Bloody Battle With Police in Streets of Troppau—Have Sympathy of the Mayor.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—The Germans in Austrian Silesia are getting more and more dissatisfied with the government and during the last few days have demonstrated in the streets of Troppau against Emperor Francis Joseph.

Last night a large crowd of German sympathizers gathered in the main streets, where they broke windows and kept up singing the "Wacht Am Rhein." It came to a bloody battle with the police and many were seriously wounded. A house belonging to the Czech Athletic club was entirely demolished. What makes the situation more complicated is that the mayor of the town sympathizes with the Germans and recently refused to be present at a banquet in honor of the seventy-fourth birthday of Emperor Francis Joseph.

WANTED TO LEAVE SENATE FOR ARMY

Mr. Fairbanks Volunteered His Services During the War With Spain.

GOVERNOR DECLINED OFFER

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.

The fact that at the outbreak of the Spanish war Senator Fairbanks offered to to resign his seat in the senate to go to the front with the Indiana volunteer troops, has just been made public. It is doubtful if half a dozen persons knew of the circumstance until he turned over certain papers to W. S. Smith of Indianapolis, the well-known historical writer, for the preparation of a semi-official biography which will be adopted by the Republican national committee, the Republican state committee and other campaign committees and circulated as a campaign document.

Mr. Smith, who is the author of a history of Indiana, and other works of a similar character, and W. B. Burford, a prominent publisher of Indianapolis, are old political and personal friends of Senator Fairbanks, and attend the same church, and when a sketch of the candidate was demanded the preparation and publication was placed in their hands. In going through the papers Mr. Smith found the following letter to Senator Fairbanks from Gov. Mount, under date of May 3, 1898:

My Dear Senator—Permit me to say, in reply to your patriotic tender of your services as a soldier, that I commend your loyalty to the state and nation. The offer of your services as a soldier means that you are ready to make any sacrifice for the preservation of the national honor.

I beg to assure you that you can best render that service in the United States senate. In this connection I desire to commend your patriotic course. I could not consent to your leaving the senate. Your constituents would protest. We need statesmen as much as soldiers. We can fill the places of soldiers much easier than the seats of senators. No one can place a higher estimate than I place upon the offer of your services to the state as a soldier, but above this is my measure of your service as a senator.

Very truly yours,
J. A. MOUNT.

The book will also contain several other unpublished letters and documents of an interesting character, including a letter from the late President Benjamin Harrison relative to Fairbanks' support of Judge Gresham in 1888.

RUSSIANS GET ACTIVE IN NORTHERN KOREA

Convoys Arrive With Tents and Ammunition for a Large Body of Troops.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, By New York Herald Co.)

SEOUL, Aug. 19.—A rumor from the north reports that 600 Russian infantrymen have arrived at Ham Heung, accompanying a pack train loaded with tents and ammunition. Supplies for a large body of troops are following them closely.

Seven Koreans, acting as spies for the Japanese, were captured by the Russians. The Russian commander at Ham Heung has prohibited the sale of liquor there, stating that he will not be responsible for the actions of his men if liquor is furnished to them.

Five hundred Russians today left Ham Hueng and proceeded south to Moon Chun. The magistrate has ordered the population to prepare accommodations and forage for them.

The Korean rebel society of the "Tong Haks" had joined the Russians, who are providing the "Tong Haks" with mounts from a large number of extra Siberian horses accompanying the troops.

SENATOR HOAR'S CONDITION IS EXTREMELY SERIOUS

WORCESTER, MASS., Aug. 19.—At 9:20 o'clock tonight Senator Hoar was resting quietly. He had been given a very light opiate. Although the congestion in his left lung has not spread, the senator's condition is very serious. He has been informed of the multitude of messages of sympathy and is deeply moved by them. No one has seen him today excepting the members of his family.

CASSINI MAKES AN IMPRESSION

His Comment on "Wreck" of Hay's Neutrality Efforts Stirs Cabinet.

OFFICIALS DODGE QUESTIONS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.

Washington was distinctly impressed by the statement of Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, this morning, that Secretary Hay's policy for the preservation of the neutrality of China had gone to wreck, and that the "open door" was threatened by the Japanese violation of the neutrality of the Chinese port of Chefoo. Efforts were made after the cabinet meeting today to draw an expression of official opinion, but they were met with the statement that there was no official comment to be made.

The announced policy of the United States is to hold aloof from this dispute between Japan, Russia and China. While declining in any way to officially pass judgment on the case, the state department let it be known that it considered Japan in the wrong, and hoped that Japan would return the destroyer captured at Chefoo.

It would not surprise the state department officials if both Russia and Japan would attempt to induce the United States to act as a mediator in this dispute. The state department has always carefully avoided committing itself to any vigorous policy in China since the Boxer troubles, and the administration is disinclined to take any troublesome foreign complications on its hands in an election year.

When Mr. Hay, at the suggestion of Germany, started out to win the consent of the powers to the preservation of the administrative entity of China, the state department was asked what the United States would do if the neutrality of China should be violated during the war. The answer was that cases would be dealt with as they arose. When the Japanese destroyers charged into Chefoo harbor and captured the Russian destroyer Ryeshitelni it was stated that the United States would take no action, that although it had promised to respect the neutrality of China it did not feel called upon to take the lead in enforcing it. This policy of aloofness was so quickly supported by a similar course on the part of Great Britain as to arouse suspicion that the two governments were aware of each other's intention.

Mr. Kogoro Takashira, the Japanese minister, was today asked to give an answer to Count Cassini's indictment against the Japanese conduct in this war, or to give an interview setting forth the Japanese side of the questions discussed. For the first time in many days Mr. Takashira declined to see visitors, saying that official business absorbed his attention.

Secretary Hay left Washington this afternoon for his summer home at Lake Sunapee, N. H., and unless some emergency arises will not return until October.

Sir Thomas Lipton Admits He Will Have Another Shamrock After the Cup.

GLASGOW, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Sir Thomas Lipton, his three successive defeats nothwithstanding, has decided to challenge again for the America's cup. Sir Thomas is at present on the Clyde on his steam yacht Erin. His new challenger will be Shamrock IV., but beyond admitting this he will not discuss the details.

"It may be simple stubbornness on my part, but all my life I have had a constitutional objection to admitting that I was beaten," he said. This is the spirit of Sir Thomas in his fourth essay to capture the trophy. His three previous races he describes as being interesting preliminaries. The new challenger will, he says, make a real fight.

CROSSED WIRES KILL TWO MEN

Death Was Instantaneous When They Tried to Turn on Lights.

FIFTYMORESHOCKED

Mother and Wife Dispute Possession of One Victim's Body.

EXCITEMENT IN PENN AVENUE

Two persons were almost instantly killed and more than 50 were shocked by the burning out of illuminating wires of the Allegheny County Light Company in the Penn avenue district shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Last night the entire district was left in darkness, except where the patrons used gas and kerosene as a substitute. A partial list of the victims follows:

THE DEAD.

JOHN HOCK, JR., of Lowrie street, Troy Hill, Allegheny, aged 24 and married; salesman in the commission house of Henry Wettach, 1704 Penn avenue. His body was taken to the morgue and later removed to his home.

GEORGE RYAN of 418 Grant street, Millvale, aged 23 and married; employed in the wholesale liquor store of Theodore Geiselhart, 1918 Penn avenue. His body is at the morgue.

THE INJURED.

JOSEPH GAVIN, bartender in the saloon of P. J. Donley, Penn avenue and Twenty-first street; suffering from shock.

PETER SCHMIDT, Mulberry alley; shocked and burned.

FRANK MULLIN, Mulberry alley; burned and shocked.

GEORGE J. RHODES, a barber of Tunnel street; arms burned.

R. MUSZELINSKI, a butcher of 1900 Penn avenue; suffering from severe shock and burns.

CHARLES MUEHLBRONNER, Allegheny, a nephew of Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner, a clerk in the Iron City Produce Company's office; knocked down and rendered senseless by severe shock.

JOHN HARVEY, clerk for Iron City Produce Company; slightly injured.

Excitement in Large District.

The accident caused the greatest excitement in the Penn avenue district, between Twelfth and Twenty-eighth streets. Fire broke out in several buildings, electric wires were snapped off and damp floors and counters in business places were converted into deadly magnets by the sudden whim of the death-dealing current. The victims were tossed about like puppets. The normal maximum voltage of incandescent wires is 110. An electrician from the Pennsylvania railroad shops who examined the wires declared that more than 500 volts must have charged the damaged wires.

The deaths of Hock and Ryan were dramatic and tragic, and both occured in the same manner and at the same time, although the men were several blocks apart. Hock was walking through Wettach's commission house, where he was employed, and reached up to turn on the light.

Fell to the Floor Dying.

The instant his hand touched the metallic socket he screamed and stood transfixed. Another employe ran to the switchboard and threw off the current. Hock, released from the fatal fluid, fell to the floor, groaning that he was dying. Dr. P. J. Rowan of 1705 Penn avenue was called, but he was too late to render aid and Hock expired within a few minutes.

The young man had only lately returned to his position, having recovered but a short time ago from an attack of typhoid fever. His body was taken to the morgue and shortly afterward removed to his home.

Ryan was washing bottles in the cellar of Geiselhart's establishment when he noticed the fuse burn out, leaving him in total darkness. He attempted to screw the socket into place, and was thrown across the room. He cried for help, but was dead when found.

Dispute Over the Body.

Two women called at the morgue and identified Ryan's body. The first said she was Mrs. Beatrice Ryan of Gerst street, Allegheny, and the dead man's wife. The second claimed to be his mother, and asked that the remains be sent to her home in Forbes street. The morgue authorities are holding the body and have not delivered it to either claimant.

Schmidt and Mullin were drinking in Donley's saloon. The sudden increase in the current charged the brass spigots, the damp floor and the counter, as well as the beer. The bartender made a flying leap and escaped probable death. The two men on the other side of the bar dropped their glasses as if they were molten metal, and staggered to the back of the room. The counter and the ice chest were in flames, but the fire was extinguished without more damage than the burning of the varnish.

Electricty Charged Soda Water.

In P. C. Schilling's drug store at Penn avenue and Twenty-first street the soda water became charged with something stronger than carbonic acid gas, and no beverage was drawn from it during the remainder of the evening. At the Twenty-eighth street pharmacy bottles were knocked from the shelves and considerable damage was done. In No. 7 engine house all the light wires were burned out and the ceiling was aflame. In the Hill district a number of persons were severely shocked, but their injuries did not require medical attention.

The engineer at the Thirteenth street power house of the Allegheny County Light Company professed to have no knowledge of the accident at 10 o'clock last night and stated that no effort had been made to repair the damaged lines. The superintendent of the company attributes the accident to crossed wires caused by yesterday's rain.

FULTON BOLTS THE CITIZENS

Delinquent Tax Collector Candidate for Mayor as Republican.

SETS UP DELEGATES

Director Clark Organizes Revolt Among Councilmen Against Administration.

BIGELOW'S TRUNKS PACKED

Andrew Fulton, city delinquent tax collector, has left the Citizens party and has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor to succeed William B. Hays. Fulton has gone even so far as to set up delegates. He declares that the present city administration has treated him with contempt and that he is done with it for good.

"Fulton is undoubtedly a candidate for mayor," said Councilman C. W. Helmold of the Twentieth ward yesterday. "He has told me and others that he is a candidate and he is setting up delegates to secure the nomination. He intends to run on the Republican ticket if he can get the nomination.

"There is no better vote-getter in the Citizens party than Andy, and he has not been treated right. He told me that he had been ignored by the administration and never invited to a conference of the leaders, nor had his wishes or views been consulted on any matter. In this respect he is in the same boat as Director Clark. There is no better politician or campaign manager than Clark in Pittsburgh. He conducted the campaigns that led the Citizens to victory, although others did the talking and took the credit. Clark and Fulton have both been treated shabbily."

Clark May Leave Party.

Fulton holds the most remunerative office under the administration. The fees of the delinquent tax collector have been estimated at not less than $20,000 annually. For some reason or other unpleasantness has existed between Fulton and the other city officials ever since his appointment a year and a half ago. There is a particular antipathy between Fulton and Director Bigelow.

When Hays was elected mayor, Fulton sought the office of director of public safety. It was his ambition to fill this office, he having formed a strong attachment to it during the brief time he held it under the administration of Recorder A. M. Brown. The other leaders of the Citizens party, however, sat down hard on the proposition to make Fulton director of public safety department, and T. S. Bigelow insisted upon appointing Harry Moore to the position. He had promised it to Moore because Moore had given up the nomination for the mayoralty in favor of Hays. James W. Clark, now director of charities, also wanted the public safety department, and like Fulton, he was disappointed.

Fulton and Clark Ignored.

As Fulton says, he has been ignored on every occasion by the administration. Although Fulton is credited with good political judgment, his advice has not been asked for and he has never been permitted to have anything to say about the management of councils, although he was the most potent factor in dealing with the city legislative bodies under the administration of A. M. Brown.

Director Clark has been treated much in the same manner by the Hays administration. During the entire fight over filtration, bonds and equally important matters, his advice has not been sought and he has been kept in the dark as to what was going on. In addition, Clark was deeply humiliated when the Verner and the Hall traction ordinances were pending in councils. Clark is treasurer of the Hall syndicate and he gave his assistance to get the Verner ordinances passed, the agreement having been made with Clark that the Hall measures would also be passed with the Verner bills.

This promise was violated and Clark has within the past few weeks organized a faction of his own in common council to hold up the franchise ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which are said to be a part of the Verner scheme. Councilman Helmold, who is one of Clark's spokesmen in councils, declares that Clark has a following in the common branch of 13 members.

Removals Are Reported.

Clark's revolt against the administration may cost him his head as an office-holder, particularly if he succeeds in defeating the traction ordinances or tacking on to them objectionable amendments.

Members of council, some of those whom Director Moore said, some weeks ago, had asked him for vice privileges, are boasting that there will soon be a vacancy in the directorship of public safety. They claim to have strong assurances from some person in authority that Moore will be removed soon and that "Buck" Wallace, superintendent of police, will be appointed in Moore's place. The reports about Moore have been in circulation constantly since the death of T. S. Bigelow, who was regarded as Moore's strong friend at court.

Reports of demoralization in the Citizens party are heard on every side. Some of these reports are probably true and others not. Even Director Bigelow is not exempt. Bigelow has taken the reins in select council from Murry A. Verner, and it was reported yesterday that if he is beaten in select next week, as was Verner and Upperman last week, he would start at once on his proposed trip to California for an indefinite stay, and that when he returns he will no longer be director of public works. This report, of course, was denied yesterday by Bigelow, but he said he did not know how long he would be director.

"I have my trunks packed to go away, and unless I get away soon they will have to be unpacked," he said. "There is absolutely nothing in the report that I am to resign, but I am not appointed for any specified time. I may be director for two more years and I may be a director for only three months."

CYCLONE SWEEPS NORTH ST. LOUIS

Leaves One Killed, One Fatally Injured and Damage Amounting to $100,000.

WORLD'S FAIR IS UNTOUCHED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—A tornado of small proportions but of extreme fury swept down on the residence portion of North St. Louis today, resulting in the death of one person, John Ellington, injury to probably 50, and damage to property estimated at $100,000. Herman Sauerwine, aged 10, it is believed, is fatally injured.

A shower had passed over St. Louis earlier in the day, but there had been no rain in North St. Louis. The sky had cleared and the atmosphere had become very murky and hot when citizens in North St. Louis noticed a dark cloud approaching from the southwest. Suddenly, and without the slightest premonition, an arm seemed to shoot to the ground like a gigantic cable, twisting and turning. The end touched the ground at Nineteenth and Angelrodd street, and, with incredible swiftness and force swept east along Angelrodd for 10 blocks, then turned north and swept three blocks along Broadway, when it jumped eight blocks northeast to the foot of Breman street and the river, where considerable property along the river front was destroyed.

The tornado then jumped to about the middle of the river and encountered a ferryboat, which was turned and tossed about but was not sunk. Leaving the ferry the tornado once more jumped and struck the Illinois shore near Madison, where it demolished several buildings, the Leiderkranz hall, and blew down a portion of the Madison copper works, killing John Ellington. Severe damage was done also to buildings in Venice and Granite City, which adjoin Madison, and a number of persons were injured.

So quickly did the tornado sweep through North St. Louis that the citizens could scarcely comprehend what had happened, and in the stillness that followed the wind cries were heard on all sides as terror-stricken persons ran about the streets. Not a telegraph, telephone or trolley pole was left standing along the streets swept by the storm.

A Broadway trolley car containing 11 passengers was suddenly buried under six telegraph poles, which smashed into the top and wrecked the car. The passengers had a remarkable escape from injury, and only the motorman received slight bruises.

The roof and one-half of the top story of Sommers Bros.' tailoring manufactory were blown away. Probably the heaviest loss suffered by a single concern was at the Niedringhaus rolling mill. The plant covers two squares. The big smokestack was blown down and half the plant was demolished, entailing estimated damage of $25,000. Six employes were injured.

Not the slightest damage was done at the world's fair grounds. The exposition is situated over five miles from the seat of the tornado, and the wind was not felt there.

NINE ARE DROWNED BY ARIZONA CLOUDBURST

EL PASO, TEXAS, Aug. 19.—A cloudburst at Globe, Ariz., has resulted in several deaths and the destruction of much property. Wires to the section affected are down, but a passenger who arrived at Bowie, Ariz., says that a man named Mitchell, and his wife and four children, whose names are not known, have been drowned. One report says nine were drowned. The Southern Pacific shops were demolished.

Storm in Manitoba.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 19.—A special dispatch from Winnipeg, Manitoba, says: "Reports of a disastrous storm have been received from Pierson, and Moosemin, but so far nothing has been heard from the intevening country, a strip of land 70 miles wide. At Moosemin Archie Latimer, a farmer, was instantly killed by lightning. Lightning struck Lyttleton causing a fire and destroying six stores. The house of the manager of the Union bank here was struck by lightning and wrecked."

Two Killed in Venice, Ill.

VENICE, ILL., Aug. 19.—The tornado that swept across the river from North St. Louis late today killed Mrs. Margaret Beal, injured 10 others and caused considerable damage to property. The tornado was of short duration, but was remarkably destructive in force.

POWDER AND WIGS AT "BAL BLANC"

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs Gives a Brilliant Affair at Rosecliff Villa, Newport.

MEN WEAR KNEE BREECHES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19.—Newport's first ball of the summer and one of the most elaborate in many respects was given tonight at Rosecliff, the beautiful villa of Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs. Although in the invitations it was styled a "bal blanc," it was not, in the dictum of Paris life, such a ball. To the ordinary Parisian of high life the bal blanc signifies an entertainment for debutantes, who are expected not to wear gowns of white, but any color desired.

Tonight it was different, and the affair might better be called a "ball in white," as all the women wore gowns of white material, chiffon, silk, gauze or brocade. They were not of any particular period, but such as might be worn at any ball of the season here or in New York.

A distinctive character was given to the assemblage by the handsomely dressed women, who wore white wigs or powdered hair, dressed with superb jewels. The men were attired in hunting coats, with knee breeches of black satin, jabots of lace, rhinestone buckles on their pumps and at the knees. Some of them wore wigs, with queues tied with black ribbons, and others had powdered hair. Several of the masculine guests were favored in that they were permitted to come in ordinary evening dress, although "small clothes" were considered de riguer.

Previous to the ball there were many dinners, the guests all going in their ball costumes. It was a busy day of preparation, as nearly all included gave themselves up to the tender mercies of hair dressers.

It was rather late when the party began to arrive at Rosecliff. They were received by the hostess, who wore an elegant gown of white lace embroidered with silver. In her elaborate white coiffure were placed clusters of white feathers, and diamonds and pearls hung in loops to a bow knot of diamonds. Assisting the hostess in her duties of receiving was her sister, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who wore an elaborate Marie Antoinette costume of white satin brocade. In her powdered hair was worn a diamond tiara, and across the corsage were strings of pearls and a stomacher of beautiful diamonds.

Rosecliff is a villa the decorations of which are of white and gold. The floral embellishments emphasized this, as they were entirely of white. Gardenias and lilies of the valley predominated, there being festoons of these blossoms hung in the ball room and halls. The mantels were banked with bride roses. All the decorations were combined with vines of delicate green, blended with the permanent adornment of the house.

As it was a perfect night the supper tables were placed on the terraces, but a few of them were in the dining room for any who did not care to brave the freshness of the outside air. Each table had a cluster of white flowers. After an hour of general dancing supper was served.

After supper the cotillion was danced, Henry S. Lehr, leading with Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr. It was a most picturesque scene, made beautiful by the costumes of the dancers. The favors were in keeping with the general scheme of the ball, and were white or nearly so. They included Maria Antoinette fichus of soft chiffon fastened with large half moons of silver; automobile clocks of silver; staffs tipped with clusters of gardenias; opera bags of white brocade with mirrors at the bottoms; cigarette cases of cedar wood covered with brocade of pale colors, filled with choice cigarettes; desk sets of white leather; playing card cases of white leather enclosing bridge sets; English pipes in satin bags; Louis XV. hats and walking sticks, and a great variety of silver trinkets and amusing toys.

blood poison, as the bullet which struck him was coated with dust, evidently having been in the chamber of the gun for some time.

Aroused People of Town.

Capt. Van Gorder, who had charge of the company, and Lieuts. Haldick and John Craig, were away when the riot took place, but the shooting aroused them just as it did the entire town of Athens. The greatest excitement followed.

The colored population made for their homes, while the white people closed the front doors of their houses and hid in cellars. All saloons were immediately barred and the only lights that could be seen late tonight came from the windows of the Hotel Berry, where Blessing lies; Sheriff Murphy's home, the court house and the temporary morgue. Capt. Van Gorder soon got his men together and ordered them not to push a fight with men that they ran across, unless necessary, but to force all to leave the town. This was not necessary for immediately after the shooting all seemed to realize the nature of the trouble and the two trails and roads leading to the camp were crowded with fleeing soldiers.

The news of the murder was immediately telephoned to Gen. Dick, who was about to board a special train for Herrick, O., with all the officers of the militia and regular army, encamped in the First brigade, where Col. Wagner, chief umpire of the United States army, was to address them on the mistakes in yesterday's maneuvers. Most of the officers had assembled at the station when an orderly rode up and told Col. Charles Hake of the First regiment of Cincinnati, and Lieut.-Col. Yeatman of the battalion of the Twenty-seventh infantry of Fort Sheridan, of the riot.

Military Law Is Declared.

Both commanders stated that some of their men were in the city, a few said to have gone, taking "French" leave. Immediately the quiet scene at the station was transformed into a rendezvous for a battalion of the regular army soldiers, made of the Twenty-seventh infantry and the Fourteenth and possibly the Twenty-first light artillery. Capt. Galbreath was in charge of the party. The soldiers carried their rifles while the artillerymen han their Colt's revolvers strapped to a belt and with the handles protruding from the holsters. Their commander made a speech which thrilled everybody present. He ordered not a man to make a move unless ordered to do so. Fifty rounds of loaded ammunition was given to each man, but they were ordered put in their bullet pouches. Meanwhile their revolvers contained loaded cartridges, ready for any emergency.

The party then commenced the march to Athens by way of the railroad. Among the first men stopped were soldiers from the First regiment, who were either on the way to Athens or just returning. Maj. Harry S. Bryan and Capt. Joe Hall, who had gone with the regulars, vouched for their men and they were allowed to proceed to camp, but not until each had shown his pass and had a lantern thrust into his face.

A strong guard had been posted at the railroad track, the main line used by the soldiers in walking to Athens. No person was allowed to proceed unless showing a pass.

SEC'Y DARLING IS LECTURED BY CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

They Protest That He Treated Only as a Joke Their Request That the Battleship Connecticut Be Christened With Water.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KENSINGTON, CONN., Aug. 19.—H. H. Spooner, chairman of the Christian citizen committee of the Connecticut Young People's society of Christian Endeavor, who forwarded to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Darling the protests of Connecticut Endeavorers to the use of wine at the launching of the battleship Connecticut, has sent to Mr. Darling the following letter:

Charles H. Darling, Acting Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C.

Your letter of the 17th inst. reached me yesterday after I had read it in my morning papers. I take it up further because it seems to me that you beg the question, treating as a joke a matter which many of our best people consider worthy of careful thought.

If the newspaper reports were true, your department granted a similar request in the case of the Kentucky a few months since, and I see no reason why the Connecticut should not be allowed to start on her career with as clean a record as her sister ship. We had no fear that the armor plate would be ruined, or the sailing qualities of the vessel impaired, and we agree that an ocean of salt water added to a quart of champagne will no doubt make it a safer beverage.

We do believe, however, that the example set by the use of pure water might save the ruin and loss of lives infinitely more valuable than the finest and most costly ship, and keep from the saddest kind of wreck some boys whom our nation needs sober, clean and true. To set that example and guard against that loss could do no possible harm and might accomplish much good. Why should not our government lend its influence to that end?

SEARCHING FOR LOST FORTUNE

J. O. Brown's Brother Makes an Effort to Find Money on Deposit.

EASTERN BANKS ARE NOTIFIED

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Search of the various safe deposit vaults in this city was commenced today for the missing fortune of the late Recorder J. O. Brown, of Pittsburgh. Believing that much of the money is in some deposit vault in this city, J. R. P. Brown, a brother, who is a lawyer in Dodge, Neb., has come here to make a systematic search for the money.

Typewritten letters setting forth the disappearance of his brother's money and papers have been mailed to all of the large deposit vaults in this city, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Newark and other large cities of the east. Before coming to New York Mr. Brown visited the legal headquarters of the Standard Oil Company, which is still maintained at Oil City, and secured from the solicitor of the company under that official's signature the following statement of his brother's holdings in oil lands at Parkersburg, Sistersville and St. Marys, W. Va., previous to his death: Three-sixteenths interest in the M. L. Gourell farm; 3-16 interest in the G. J. Gourell farm; one-quarter interest in leasehold on Elroy Wagner farm; an interest in the leasehold in the White farm.

Joseph C. Trees, of Pittsburgh, business associate of J. O. Brown, says that one oil well in which they were equally interested had netted Mr. Brown over $700,000, and that his holdings of real estate, bonds and securities would easily aggregate over $1,000,000.

Mr. Brown obtained a statement from the clerk of the county in West Virginia, in which the oil property is situated, showing that several days after the death of his brother deeds were filed transferring the oil property to Miss Nattie McLean, the stenographer at whose home Brown died, for the consideration of $1 in each case.

"Although Miss Nattie McLean is easily worth $800,000," said Mr. Brown in commenting upon the disappearance of his brother's property, "his deeding this much to her would not account for all of my brother's money.

"Miss McLean said, when questioned as to how she had so much money, that she saved the $75 a month my brother paid her and used it in speculation. The oil property, she said, was deeded to her for money she had advanced my brother in his enterprises.

"Up to date all Mrs. Ella Martin, the legal wife, has been able to find is a little less than $2,000 deposited in three banks, 85 shares of stock in the Colonial Trust bank of Pittsburgh, on which he had borrowed $30,000 and one piece of city property valued at $16,000. All told, the money will just pay his debts.

"Just before Recorder Brown's death his wife, with a view of getting much more alimony than $5,000 a year, visited his oil property with attorneys and found that from them he was getting $7,000 a month. Leaving out all the property held by Miss McLean, I believe that my brother has somewhere in deposit vaults papers and money to the extent of half a million dollars."

NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS.

Minister Barrett Hands Foreign Minister of Panama a Letter Supporting Contention of the United States.

PANAMA, Aug. 19.—It is hoped that the questions at issue between the governments of Panama and the United States will soon be satisfactorily settled. Mr. Barrett, the American minister, has handed to Tomas Arias, the minister of foreign relations, a copy of a letter written on January 19 last by M. Bunau-Varilla, then minister of Panama to the United States, to Secretary Hay in which he supported the contention of the United States for control of the ports of Ancon and Cristobal. This letter was written when the original amendments to the Panama canal treaty were proposed in the United States congress and explained M. Bunau-Varilla's interpretation of the clauses to be amended.

The negotiations between Mr. Barrett and Senor Arias are progressing.

PENNSYLVANIANS CAUGHT IN RAIN

Gov. Pennypacker and Party Drenched While Taking an Automobile Ride.

EXPERIENCED ST. LOUIS STORM

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—A terrific rain and thunder storm spoiled what was planned to be a delightful automobile party to witness the electrical illumination at the fair tonight. A half-dozen large automobiles were engaged and Gov. Pennypacker and his fellow Pennsylvanians started out for the fair grounds at 7:30 o'clock. They had not gone a dozen blocks before it began to rain.

What was at first thought to be only a slight shower developed into a veritable tempest, in which the rain fell in torrents, lightning flashed and heaven's heaviest artillery thundered for more than an hour. Many of the Pennsylvanians were drenched to the skin before they were able to reach the hotel. A few of them, who had their automobiles run to shelter in side streets, escaped. Most of the party had to change their clothes when they returned to the Jefferson. The probabilities are that it will rain tomorrow, and much concern is manifested by the visitors for the success of Pennsylvania day.

The special train bringing the Pennsylvanians arrived at Union station about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, nearly two hours behind time. The Pennsylvanians, who had been joined at East St. Louis by Thomas H. Garvin, superintendent of the Pennsylvania building, were met at Union station by Col. John P. Penney, adjutant general of the Pennsylvania day parade tomorrow, and 40 carriages, in which the party were conveyed to the Jefferson hotel, where accommodations had been secured in advance.

CHANCE FOR REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN MISSOURI

State Chairman Asks National Committee for a Vigorous Campaign.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Chairman Neidringhaus of the Republican state committee of Missouri made a plea at Republican national headquarters today for a vigorous campaign in Missouri, contending that on account of the differences existing among Democratic leaders there is a fair chance of Republican success in the state. Preparations have been set on foot for the annual celebration by the Marquette club, the leading Republican organization of this city, on October 8. Among the speakers already selected are Senator Fairbanks, Speaker Cannon and Congressman Watson of Indiana, and William Alden Smith of Michigan.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 19.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican candidate for vice president, today accepted an assignment from national headquarters to speak at Elmira, N. Y., September 15, the day following his Saratoga addresses.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Senator Scott, manager of the speakers' bureau for the Republican national committee, has arranged with former Senator Thurston of Nebraska to make several speeches in New York and New Jersey and to spend a week in West Virginia.

BARBER CUT STARS ON A PATRON'S HEAD

Was Too Handy With the Shears and a Summons Has Been Issued for Him.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—As soon as a summons, already issued, has been served upon Henry Kirschenbaum, it will be the task of some wise judge in the Essex Market police court to determine what kind of offence a barber commits when he cuts a sun, moon and stars as well as other artistic designs, on the head of a patron.

According to all the evidence in the case Louis Leiberman, a midget, went to the barber shop on Thursday to have his hair cut. In the middle of the operation Kischenbaum reminded him of a trifling debt of 50 cents. The so-called midget grew angry and declined to pay it and then and there, he says, the barber did the applique work on his head, although he didn't know it until kind friends called attention to it.

Then he obtained the summons. Kischenbaum denies the story of the fancy hirsute work and says that Lieberman left the chair before the hair-cutting was finished, merely because he was reminded of the debt.

RUSSIAN SHIPS MUST GET OUT

Chinese Taotai at Shanghai Suddenly Withdraws the Privileges He Granted.

JAPAN GROWS IMPATIENT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Consul General Goodnow has cabled the state department from Shanghai that the Chinese taotai there has reported against the claim of the Russian consul general, and decided that the torpedo boat destroyer now at that port must go out or disarm by August 20, and that the Russian cruiser in port must do likewise by August 21.

The state department has received a cablegram from Chefoo, dated today, saying:

"This morning seven Japanese destroyers entered the harbor and met an unknown steamer entering which they captured. Two Japanese cruisers are outside the harbor."

Japanese Make Demands.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—Despite the taotai's decision to allow the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi and the cruiser Askold to remain in port for what would be considered a reasonable length of time to make repairs, the Japanese consul general made three demands today that the vessels either leave port or disarm. The ships are carefully guarded by customs officials, and lighters are waiting to coal the Askold. Semi-official reports state that the Japanese fleet will make a demonstration outside the harbor on Tuesday. The neutral consuls believe the Japanese threat to seize the vessels is a bluff. A pacific end of the controversy is anticipated. The damage to the Askold is greater than expected, and cannot be repaired under three weeks.

Want to Send Squadron to Shanghai.

TOKYO, Aug. 19.—Noon.—The Japanese are growing impatient at the delay in the decision of the status of the Russian cruiser Askold at Shanghai. The Askold has docked and is refitting, and evidently intends to endeavor to rejoin the Russian fleet and resume its place in the naval campaign. This is declared to be an open violation of neutrality, which the Chinese government evidently is powerless to prevent. Many Japanese openly urge the dispatch of a squadron to Shanghai to seize and remove the Askold. The government is particularly desirous of respecting the neutrality of Shanghai, but it is unwilling to suffer the Askold to escape. It is possible that a Japanese squadron will go up to Shanghai and require that the Askold be disarmed, leaving her thereafter in the possession of the Chinese.

Destroyers Active Near Chefoo.

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—Persons who were observing the coast this morning some miles east of Chefoo declare that the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers which entered the harbor at half past 5 this morning hoisted only one flag when they were going away. A small merchantman was seen coming toward Chefoo, but when she perceived the destroyers she turned her course. The destroyers passed the merchantman apparently without noticing her, and she continued to follow the warships. The merchantman is thought to have been a picket boat that brought news to the destroyers.

The naval attache at the Japanese consulate here expresses the opinion that these Japanese destroyers were searching for the Russian cruisers Diana and Novik, which are now the only Russian warships not accounted for since the sortie from Port Arthur of August 10, or for some ship which may have escaped during the night from Port Arthur.

WILL FIGHT EITHER JAPAN OR RUSSIA

So Declares Chinese Ambassador If Belligerents Attempt to Engage in Chinese Territory.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—In an interview with the Chinese ambassador this afternoon he spoke without reserve on the position of China and the possibility of an alliance with Japan.

"I cannot state too firmly, or emphasize too much," he said, "that my government is exceedingly anxious to preserve absolute neutrality, and will do everything in its power to counteract the strong popular opinion which demands an alliance with Japan and which is being worked up by hundreds of Japanese agents scattered throughout the empire. The government has about 50,000 well-armed and well-disciplined soldiers under command of Generals Yuan-Shi-Kai and Ma, but I dare not say that there are no Japanese officers holding minor commands under them.

"This force stands near Liao-Yang, and has been told to prevent any of the combatants from invading Chinese territory. Any force which transgresses the frontier will be immediately disarmed and held prisoners until the end of the war. There is, of course, a strong possibility that if the Russians find that they are unable to effect the retreat from Liao-Yang to Mukden they will be forced to pass through Chinese territory with a force stronger than ours, but even in that case our soldiers will do their duty. The two generals have orders from the government to meet the Russian armies no matter how strong, on the boundary line, and either force them to disarm or go back into Manchuria."

PENNSYLVANIA CUTS STEEL RAIL ORDER

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—The Pennsylvania railroad will order only 40,000 tons of steel rails this year. This order will be given by President Cassatt upon his return from Bar Harbor, the first of next month. The company ordered 70,000 tons last year and the greater portion has not been used. The price to be paid has not been given out, but it is said that the company will not pay the price ($28) in effect last year.

USE RAPID FIRE GUNS TO PROTECT NON-UNIONISTS

ZEIGLER, ILL., Aug. 19.—A rapid-fire gun has been placed in a steel gondola, and, manned by four gunners doubly armed with revolvers and magazine rifles, has been added to a company of 25 Zeigler guards and sent out an escort to frightened trainmen who refused to go through Christopher without sufficient protection. The train returned bringing 26 non-union mine workers. It met with no armed opposition.

JAPAN SENDS NEARLY $1,000,000 FOR SUPPLIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The Pacific mail steamer Siberia has arrived from the Orient with a lot of raw silk valued at $472,000, and in her treasure tank Japanese gold aggregating $950,000 for the purchase of supplies for the Japanese army.

FIGHT RENEWED AT LIAO-YANG

Japanese Column at Tai-Tse River Drives Russians Back and Crosses.

KUROPATKIN MAKES STAND

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

SIN MIN TUN, Aug. 19.—Fighting of considerable magnitude is reported to the northeast of Liao-Yang today. A Japanese column, estimated to be 10,000 strong, was checked for a time at the Tai-Tse river, but succeeded in forcing a crossing, driving the Russians back with heavy loss.

News comes from Mukden that Kuropatkin has decided to fight at Liao-Yang. A number of the troops which have been at Mukden have gone south to reinforce the Russian main army, which is said to number something more than 100,000 men, well supplied with artillery.

The Japanese forces are well to the north of An-Shan-Shan, both on the east and west, and skirmishes indicate an intention on the part of Kuroki to strike in between the Russian advance position and their base at Liao-Yang, where the Niuchwang and Hai-Cheng roads join. Japanese scouting parties have approached within less than five miles of the railroad line.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 Chunchuses are gathered between this place and Mukden. They are thoroughly armed and well drilled. Many Japanese officers are among them. They are continually engaged in raiding the Russian lines and cutting off scouting parties.

The Chinese regulars are moving north on the Chinese side of the Liao river. The Chinese garrison has been considerably strengthened within the past few days.

SOCIALIST CONGRESS TALKS ON DRESDEN RESOLUTION

French Leader Attacks the Party in Germany, Which He Declares Admirable but Weak.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 19.—The International Socialist and Trade Union congress spent today in discussing the so-called Dresden resolution introduced by the French delegates. This resolution was adopted by the Socialist congress held in Dresden and afterward approved at a conference held in Rheims. While giving approval to the Socialist parliamentary groups in running their own candidates for parliamentary offices, the resolution condemns the idea of the socialists making any concession to the established order of things by taking any share in government or in bourgeois society.

M. Jaures, the French Socialist leader, opposed the resolution in a striking speech, which practically amounted to an indictment of the Germans. He said the Socialist party in Germany was admirable but weak. The electoral campaign in Germany was wonderful, but the constitution prevented its being properly utilized. "You received the electoral right from the sovereign," said M. Jaures, "but we won it at the barricades. To pass the Dresden resolution would be to acknowledge your positon as ideal, which is just what we are contesting with all our strength."

Herr Bebel, the German Socialist leader, confessed to his envy of the French republic, but contended that Germany was the better governed country and nowhere did the population suffer more from taxes than in France. Herr Bebel concluded his speech by saying: "It is to Napoleon's coup d'etat that you owe universal suffrage, but it is Bismarck, who captured your emperor, that you have to thank for a republic." The resolution was finally adopted by a vote of 25 to 5. Twelve delegates abstained from voting.

Hamilton hall is conveniently located in Pittsburgh's business center, and visitors will have every courtesy shown them. They will find it a very convenient place for meeting their friends.

Hamilton's is the largest music house in Western Pennsylvania and has been established for over a third of a century. The business is growing so rapidly that recently the present spacious quarters became necessary. We believe you will thoroughly enjoy looking through our beautiful new home.

And if you have a little time to spare you will enjoy hearing the Angelus, the wonderful piano player. Mention your favorite selection and hear how beautifully it is played by means of the Angelus, with which anybody can play any make of piano.

In our twenty piano salesrooms we exhibit for sale the pianos of ten leading American manufacturers, including A. B. Chase, J. & C. Fischer, Hamil-Tone, Schumann, Smith & Barnes, and other celebrated makes.

The attention of excursionists is invited particularly to the "Conservatory Model" upright piano, which, for a short time, we are selling at the wholesale price of $185. And we will arrange easy terms of payment at this price if desired. Of course, we have many finer pianos, but the "Conservatory Model" combines high quality and low price to a greater degree than any other instrument we have ever seen.

We sell everything musical and only the best of everything. Pipe and reed organs for church, chapel, school and home; music boxes and time sheets; cornets, trombones, clarionets, oboes, 'cellos, violins, etc., made by the most famous French, German and Italian makers; flutes, fifes, drums, guitars, banjos and mandolins.

Our sheet music department is one of the finest and most complete in this country.

Excursionists should not fail to drop in and get copies of the latest popular hits in songs and instrumental music, such as "Obeja" (Indian love serenade); "I am Longing for My Old Kentucky Home," "Polly Prim" (one of the greatest hits of the year), "Good-Bye Little Girl, Good-Bye," and scores of others which we are selling to excursionists at special prices ranging from 15c to 50c.

And please bear in mind that whether or not you wish anything in our line we shall be pleased to see you at Hamilton hall at any time.

WAINWRIGHT FOR LOWER BOND RATE

Favors Amendment of Filtration Ordinance in Select Council on Monday.

BIGELOW LIKES UPPERMAN

Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., favors the amendments to the filtration bond ordinance and his vote will be recorded in select council next Monday. Councilman Wainwright is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor and he realizes that he cannot afford to lend his vote or influence to the scheme of the administration.

"I believe that the bonds could be easily floated at a lower rate of interest than 4 per cent and a good premium secured," said he yesterday. "Plenty of money is to be had just now and I have not the slightest doubt that the city could sell the bonds for a good premium at 4½ per cent interest. I have some doubts, however, about the proposition to issue the bonds in serial form.

"If the administration intends to go ahead and build the filtration plant at once I believe that the plant could be completed in a year. Under these circumstances it would be better to sell all the bonds at one time. I believe that this is the best possible time to sell, and if the money is to be used right away it would be wise to sell them all together to get the best price for them.

Discusses Verner Scheme.

"There is any amount of money in Philadelphia and New York on call, but this condition of the market is not likely to last very long. It is due somewhat to the present depression of the industrial business, and the fear of people to invest in anything less safe than bonds. The presidential election also has something to do with it.

"I understand that the administration has its filtration plans all ready and that there is nothing to prevent it from letting the contracts immediately. If a start is made at once and the work pushed as rapidly as possible the $2,000,000 now in the city treasury will not last long."

Wainwright said the fact that money is plentiful and easy to be borrowed on good municipal bonds was an argument against the theory that the administration was anxious to get the $5,000,000 and keep it in the banks indefinitely to be loaned to favorite interests.

Wainwright's declaration in favor of a lower interest on the bonds means that the administration will not have his support Monday if it repeats the attempt to railroad the ordinance through by suspension of the rules. In fact there is a serious doubt that the administration will command a majority in the upper branch. The opposition has been made more confident by their showing on Wednesday and claim they have gained several more votes since then.

Bigelow Compliments Upperman.

Director Bigelow assumed the management of select council yesterday and quite a number of selectmen, including several of those who voted against the bond and traction ordinances on Wednesday, called upon the director.

It is stated that nothing more substantial than glittering promises were received by them, and that they did not go away satisfied. If the bond ordinance is amended in select it must go back to common council for concurrence, and this will give the Republicans and the Citizens faction, which is led by Director Clark, a chance to put in a few more amendments. The fight for control of select council is a desperate one and it is generally conceded that the result depends altogether upon what takes place within the next two or three days.

While Bigelow proposes to manage select council he will still leave John Upperman to act as floor leader. "Upperman is the smartest man in councils," said Bigelow, "and he knows more parliamentary law than all the rest of them." Upperman has proved a valuable ally to the administration, and Citizens members are deeply incensed at the prominence given him.

LARKIN TALKS UPON THE NEXT PHILIPPINE LOAN

Controller Contrasts $3,000,000 One-Year Bonds With Pittsburgh's 30-Year Issue and Higher Interest.

"I noticed today," said Controller Larkin yesterday, "in looking over the daily bond news in the 'American Banker' of August 18, that the Philippine Islands will offer for sale on August 22, $3,000,000 one-year 4 per cent bonds. I could scarcely believe those impoverished people could hope to float a bond issue at that rate and for that length of time, and I read it over again to reassure myself.

"It does not seem possible that people living, as they do, with their limited mental and physical resources and their crude ideas of government would go into the market for money at all. What a marvel it is that they can be accommodated at the same price as Pittsburgh, whose total bank resources amount to more than $444,000,000 and whose dividends during the year 1903 amounted to almost double the entire Philippine loan!

"Yet we are told that this great city must pay 4 per cent, must make the loan for a long time and give up the bonds instantly. My, oh, my! Are we traveling backward or is the government adrift with shoals and rock in sight?"

SAVED BY A SHOUT.

Officer's Command Prevented Woman from Jumping Three Stories to Street.

Shouted commands from George Shaffer, a wagonman at the South Side police station, yesterday morning saved a woman from injury or death. Fire had broken out on the first floor of the three-story house at 82 South Fourteenth street, and Miss Hilda Sell, aged 24, thought she was cut off by flames. She ran to the roof, with her brother in pursuit. She got out of an attic window when the officer shouted:

"For God's sake, don't jump."

The girl hesitated long enough for her brother to scramble after and catch her. She was hysterical. The fire spread rapidly and the damage amounted to $800.

Mills Resume Full Time.

All the guide mills in the Painter plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, West Carson street, were put on full turn yesterday giving employment to about 200 skilled workmen and laborers. It is expected that within the next week all the loop and bar mills will be put in operation. The plant has been running only about half time during the summer. During the shutdown many of the mills have been repaired and modernized so as to greatly lessen the cost of production and increase the finished output.

CAME TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

Daniel E. McCarthy Gave Himself Up to the Coroner in a Most Dramatic Way.

SUSPECTED OF KILLING WIFE

"Take me, coroner; they say I murdered my wife! Lock me up if you like. I am willing to face justice."

These were the words that Daniel E. McCarthy, a structural iron worker, addressed to Coroner McGeary yesterday afternoon. He had traveled from Cincinnati to give himself up to the county authorities, he said. He is being held on the testimony of several witnesses for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Nellie McCarthy, who died at the Allegheny General hospital on June 25, from injuries said to have been inflicted by her husband. The Allegheny detectives have been searching for McCarthy since the day of the crime and his unexpected return caused a sensation in the coroner's office. He is now in jail.

The death of Mrs. McCarthy was attended by circumstances which showed that she had been the victim of a vicious assailant. She was found lying in her home at 714 South avenue, Allegheny, suffering from repeated blows in the region of the stomach. She was in a delicate condition at the time and declared to those who found her that she had been assaulted on the evening of Tuesday, June 21, and had lain for three days without attention.

Her husband had disappeared and the suspicion of the crime at once pointed to him. Mrs. McCarthy was taken to the hospital, where she died in great agony.

The testimony at the opening of the inquest seemed to clinch the guilt of McCarthy. Detectives William M. Speer and John King of Allegheny were detailed upon the case. On June 24 Superintendent Campbell of Allegheny made an information against McCarthy on information received, charging him with aggravated assault and battery. After the woman's death the coroner ordered a post mortem and the verdict was that she had died of peritonitis, caused by a heavy blow, and a warrant was issued for McCarthy's arrest. The Allegheny detectives claim that they heard of his return to Allegheny early this week and that they pursued him so closely he sought escape from them by surrendering to the coroner. This, however, differs from McCarthy's story.

"Let the Lord strike me dead where I stand, coroner, I did not know that anything had happened to my wife until last week," said McCarthy. "I left her because we did not get along together. I think she was all right then. I went to Millvale and then to Baltimore. Then I drifted around considerably. I can hardly remember just where I stopped until I reached Cincinnati. I was there last week when I received a letter from my brother in Baltimore and he told me that my wife had died suddenly and that I was suspected of the killing.

"I waited for no more. I left at the first chance and came to Pittsburgh. I stopped first with my sister, who lives in Allegheny. I studied over what I should do. I went to Attorney William A. Blakeley and told him all I knew. He told me to come here and give myself up. Here I am, coroner."

Bail for McCarthy's appearance at the inquest was fixed at $2,500 and with Deputy Coroner R. J. Hazlett he started out immediately to find a bondsman. Their search was fruitless and at 5:30 o'clock last night McCarthy was committed to jail.

Church Dedication at Natrona.

Many Plans Are Submitted.

Nearly two dozen plans, from as many architects, were submitted to the building committee of Homestead borough council for the proposed municipal building. The award will be made after the next meeting of the council.

Clamoring for Investigation.

Homestead citizens are reported to be impatient at the delay of the committee appointed some time ago to investigate the alleged "grafting" of councilmen of that borough, and are said to be clamoring for the investigation.

DETECTIVES CAUGHT THE ACCUSED MAN'S BROTHER

At the Hearing Mistaken Identity Was Discovered and the Prisoner Had to Be Let Go by the Officer.

That blood is considerably thicker than water was discovered to the grief of a railroad detective yesterday, who arrested a brother of his intended prisoner, and while he was lugging the wrong man off to jail the real offender was making good his escape. Now both are free.

Special Officer Edward Spinning of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad force, swore out a warrant before Alderman W. B. Armstrong charging "Boodles" Donley with the larceny of 60 oil barrels, which it is alleged, he stole from the Glenwood siding and sold for $1.20 apiece. Donley owns a horse and wagon and after a short search the officer supposed he had found his man at Penn avenue and Twenty-fifth street. The officer had often seen Donley and felt that he would recognize him instantly.

"I have a warrant for you, 'Boodley.'"

"I'm your man sure," replied the other. "I'm Mr. Donley."

"Come along, Mr. Donley," said the detective, and they lighted stogies, climbed on the rear seat of a summer car and rode downtown. Donley went to jail, tarried there a short time and was taken before Alderman Armstrong for his hearing.

"I'm as innocent as a babe in a cradle," said the prisoner. "I never stole anything in my life."

"Are you not Donley?"

"Donley I am, sure."

"This warrant says that 'Boodley' Donley is charged with larceny."

"Oh, 'Boodley' is, is he?" repeated the man in the dock. "I'm not 'Boodley'—I'm Morris Donley, as innocent as a babe in a cradle."

"Where is 'Boodley?'" inquired his inquisitor.

"How do I know? He's had a heap o' time to clear these diggin's while you've been pesterin' an innocent man."

The brother was discharged and now the search for "Boodley" is being prosecuted with renewed vigor.

"LUCKY FORTY" NEWSIES ARE BACK IN PITTSBURGH

Tired but Happy Guests of Chronicle Telegraph Return from Visit to St. Louis World's Fair.

Back from the world's fair, where they have been the guests of the Chronicle Telegraph for a week, the "Lucky Forty" newsboys reached the Wabash station at 6 o'clock last evening, gave three cheers for the Banner route and scattered for their homes as tired and happy a bunch as ever came home from a vacation.

Coming across Ohio yesterday on their way home the newsies got together and prepared a set of resolutions, thanking the Chronicle Telegraph and the circulation manager, Isaac F. Bailey, for the trip which the Chronicle made possible for them. The resolutions state that every promise made was more than carried out and that the trip was a thorough success.

Only 37 of the original crowd returned in the party. Three, John Finn, John Owen and H. M. Harris, decided to stay over a few days longer, and John Finn has determined to see the beef strike at Chicago at closer range than Pittsburgh. He proposes to watch the events there for a few days before resuming his stand at the postoffice corner.

No sickness or accident occurred to mar the trip. The "forty" saw everything worth special mention and were ready to come home to the comparatively peaceful occupation of selling papers. One of the boys was kicked out of an upper berth night before last, but the drop of six feet was a mere incident hardly to be compared with the rush of business in Oliver avenue when the "six o'clock edition" comes out.

CHARTIERS VALLEY WATER PLANTS ARE NOW LEASED

Stockholders by a Large Majority Turn the Property Over to the South Pittsburgh Water Company.

By a large majority the stockholders of the Chartiers Valley Water Company voted yesterday to lease the company's property to the South Pittsburgh Water Company. The vote was 16,000 shares for the lease and 1,200 against.

The lease becomes effective as soon as executed, and the South Pittsburgh Water Company takes immediate possession. The lease is for a long term, so that the new company becomes practically the owner of the Chartiers Valley company's property.

The South Pittsburgh Company is the operating concern formed by the American Water Works & Guarantee Company interests to take over the Chartiers Valley Company. This gives the big Pittsburgh water works company a local operating concern. It has had many in the south and west, but locally other concerns have dominated the situation. The company has an established record for efficiency in its work, and through the efforts of its engineers the operations of the Chartiers Valley Company have been improved in the past few months.

The plan of lease or sale had been under consideration for some time past, but the attorneys representing the two interests have found various legal details that required time for settlement so that the stockholders' meeting had been repeatedly postponed.

HASN'T BEEN IN COLORADO.

Mrs. Phipps Denies Report of Having Met Her Husband and Children.

Mrs. Genevieve C. Phipps is still at her East End home, "Grandview," and denied last night a telegraphic report from Denver, printed in an afternoon paper, that she had met her husband, Lawrence C. Phipps, in Colorado Springs on Monday and had spent several hours driving with her children. The report also declared that the purpose of Mrs. Phipps' visit was to offer a proposition of settlement, which was refused.

"There is no truth whatever in the report," said Mrs. Phipps last night. Local counsel state that there are no developments in the case and that there will be none until next week, when the time extension for filing answer expires.

Director Hamerschlag Visits Teachers.

Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the Carnegie Technical schools left the city last evening for a few days' absence in connection with a number of applications for positions as teachers. The director is gradually selecting from a great many applications the teaching corps he desires. A great deal of care is being exercised in this, as it is desired that in each line the very best man or woman available be secured right from the start.

David Myers at Point of Death.

David Myers, aged 40, of South Twenty-eighth street, is lying at the point of death at his home as the result of hurts sustained in a runaway last Saturday. He was driving in his buggy along Pius street when his horse, taking fright, ran away and threw him out. His head struck the wheel of a beer wagon. He has not regained consciousness. He is married and has three children.

Minnie May Lane, the 17-year-old sister of Charles Lane, an Allegheny saloonkeeper, has been missing five weeks from her home, 19 Morgan street. Her parents have received several letters from Chicago and St. Louis, the girl writing that she had eloped to get married, but withholding the name of the prospective husband.

Installment Agent Held for Court.

Isaac Shinberg of 8 Grandview street was held for court in $800 bail yesterday by Alderman McGovern on three charges of larceny by bailee. He was an agent for C. F. Adams of 815 Fifth avenue and is accused of disposing of goods valued at $50 which had been furnished him to place on the installment plan.

VISITING MERCHANTS ARE ALL INVITED TO THE RACES

Gentlemen's Driving Club Extends Its Hospitality Today to Guests of the M. & M.—Preparations for Rush.

As another indication of the welcome extended to the merchants visiting Pittsburgh as the special guests of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, the Gentlemen's Driving club has extended an invitation for as many of the visitors as arrive here today to attend the races this afternoon at Brunots island.

This is the first day of the sale of the merchants' railroad tickets at the reduced prices. It is not expected that many of the merchants will come until next week, but Manager Wardrop of the association will be at his office all day to welcome all arrivals.

The offices of the association will be turned into a different sort of place next week. A counter will be erected and special desks and cases installed to facilitate the work of the joint agents of the railroad associations who will certify the tickets. Members of the reception committee will be available constantly to see that every caller is introduced properly, and in general no effort will be lacking to make the trip to Pittsburgh a memorable one.

WAGE COMMITTEE CONFERS.

Amalgamated Association to Appoint Delegates for Arbitration Board.

The bar iron conference committee of the Amalgamated association met yesterday and discussed the situation at the plants of the Republic Iron and Steel Company. William Gibson, vice president of this district, presided in the absence of President Shaffer, who is indisposed.

The committee will meet again today. Before adjourning a sub-committee will be appointed to submit their case before the arbitration board, which will meet as soon as an umpire is selected.

Uninvited Guest is Punished.

John Garnish went uninvited to Liberty hall, Kerr street, Allegheny, last night and heard the sound of revelry and feasting. He knocked at the door, said the man who had just been married, John Yanko was a friend. Yanko went to the door and refused to let him in, so Garnish struck him in the face. Garnish was arrested and was fined $10 and costs by Alderman Hankins.

Shelter House Dedication Postponed.

The dedication of the shelter house in Riverview park, Allegheny, to have been held last night was postponed on account of rain until next Tuesday evening. For that reason the concert of the Elks of Allegheny, which was scheduled for Tuesday evening in East park, was postponed until Wednesday evening.

Saturday, August 20, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

Pittsburgh business men are well prepared for the entertainment of their guests who are coming to the city on the trade excursion. The chief attention will be paid directly to business while the guests are here, but an opportunity will also be given to get acquainted with Pittsburgh, its hospitality and its general business character, which will be of great value, both to the excursionists and the business interests of Pittsburgh in the future. The visiting merchants will be quick to see the advantages of the Pittsburgh market, and what they see during this visit will long be remembered when they have occasion to renew supplies at future times. The Iron City is taking great pride in this affair, and the efforts of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association will be supplemented by all who have the welfare of the city's business interests at heart.

The finding of another specimen of the triceratops by the scientists of Carnegie institute, now making researches in the far west, serves to call attention to the great work in behalf of scientific research that is being made by this Pittsburgh institution. There is nowhere today a greater collection of prehistoric skeletons controlled by a city, and as time passes the Pittsburgh museum promises to rival even those at Washington and London. Already Pittsburgh has been called upon to close a large gap in the British museum, and the excavations now proceeding in the west would indicate that we may have other calls from that famous institution. A day spent in the Carnegie institute is even now much more profitable to the student than a similar length of time spent with a book on natural history. The work of Dr. Holland and his assistants is not only valuable to scientists, but is decidedly entertaining to the average looker on.

The fact that Minister Bowen has requested the Venezuelan government to return the asphalt lake to the New York & Bermudez Asphalt Company is strong evidence that the contention of the officials at Caracas, that the company violated its agreement with the government, is untenable. The facts in the case have not been fully communicated to the Washington government, but Minister Bowen can be depended upon to take no action but is warranted by the law and the facts. The reputation of President Castro for high-handed usurpation of the authority of the courts puts the burden of proof to the contrary upon him. And the fact that he has long sought a loophole through which to defeat the contract of the asphalt company with his government and rob it of its concession is also a point that weighs heavily against the contention that he now makes. For these various reasons there can be no doubt that Minister Bowen is pursuing the proper course in the matter.

In delving through the records to secure the data for a biographical sketch of Senator Fairbanks, to be used in the history of the Republican campaign, the fact has been discovered that when the Spanish war broke out the senator wrote to the then Gov. Mount, expressing a desire to resign his seat in the senate so that he might go to the front with the Indiana volunteers, but very wisely, Gov. Mount decided that there was a greater need for him in the senate than in the ranks of the volunteers. This patriotic willingness to accept the hardships of a military campaign has never been exploited as one of the virtues of Senator Fairbanks, and the fact that he never paraded his desire to join the army proves that he never mixes patriotism and politics. His desire to become a soldier was made in the most modest and unassuming manner, and he acquiesced when it was urged upon him that his duty was to remain where he was. But had he been needed, he would cheerfully have sacrificed his political position at his country's call. His conduct will add to the respect in which he is now held.

The precarious position of Russian officials is demonstrated by the precautions taken to assure the safety of the new governor general of Finland. All the basement entrances to the senate chamber were closed with cement and the houses adjoining the official residence were searched for secret entrances. It is but another evidence that M. Witte was stating a simple truth when he said that every high Russian official knows upon taking office that he is risking his life. Prince Obiensky is in danger before he has had an opportunity to show to the people of Finland whether he is friend or foe. But Finland considers every man sent by the czar an enemy. However, only the fanatics of Finland would think of escaping the dominion of Russia by the aid of assassination. Each crime of this character only serves to make the next official more bitter and more reactionary. There is little hope for Finland under the rule of Russia, it is true, but there is less hope with each succeeding assassination. Striking down an individual can never reach the heart of the established order of government, no matter what its character.

District Attorney Stewart, upon his return from Boston, finds a very important work cut out for him in the thorough investigation of the charges that the police officials of Allegheny have accepted money for protecting persons conducting illegal establishments. The district attorney could not, of course, make any statement on the question yesterday, as he had had no time to look into it or to hear the reports of his subordinates. But he will find that the developments will demand a large share of his attention for some time to come. The Allegheny officials show every evidence of a desire to drop the case with as little stirring up as possible. Nothing has been done but the dismissal of the policeman who made the charges, and that is on the wrong side of the case. New evidence is said to have been found, and it is the duty of the district attorney to thoroughly go into the case in all its phases. If the high officials of the Allegheny police department are not implicated in the grafting, as they allege, they will give the district attorney every assistance in his work. If they try to throw obstacles in his way it will convince the public that they fear to allow the light of day to penetrate the secrets of the department.

The Business Situation.

The most important developments of the week were in connection with the iron trade. For a period of six months more or less nominal prices have been maintained by the various pools. During this period the volume of business has steadily declined. This is proved by the report of the U. S. Steel Corporation at the close of its second quarter. The unfilled orders on hand July 1 were nearly a million tons smaller than three months before that date. The figures indicated a deadlock between producers and consumers. The needs of the latter existed and were accumulating, but the ability or disposition to supply these needs at prices current when general business conditions were ideal was lacking. The almost irresistible conclusion was that a readjustment of prices was necessary to revive activity in the trade. This readjustment is now apparently in progress all along the line. In some departments it is officially admitted to have taken place. An immediate improvement can hardly be looked for, because the public never anticipates its wants on a declining market. When it becomes reasonably certain that the bottom has been reached, the turn toward improvement will be more rapid. It will not be confined to the iron trade. Coal and coke will share in it, and the increased tonnage will favorably affect the railroads. There will be more work to do, more men employed, more wages paid and a larger buying power, which will eventually extend to the mercantile trade.

While prices of manufactured commodities have displayed a declining tendency, prices of agricultural products have been very strong and higher. In the Chicago market the May wheat option advanced to $1.14⅞, and cash wheat and all the nearby options held above the dollar line. Flour also advanced, and corn, oats and provisions were higher. Authorities on the wheat trade are now generally agreed that the world's crop will be short this year, but prices have now reached a level where there will be a substitution of cheaper foodstuffs, and there is reason to believe that the average for both wheat and flour will be below the present level. One effect of the advance has been to stimulate the marketing of the crop, the primary receipts and shipments of winter wheat in this country running about 200,000 bushels a day over the movement for last year. Some deterioration is reported in the condition of cotton and corn, but there is every promise that these two crop will be the largest ever raised. High prices for wheat and bountiful yields of cotton and corn will put the agricultural classes of the country in strong financial position, and the rapid marketing of these products ought to immediately enlarge the buying power of the farmer and contribute to commercial activity later on.

There has been a continuation of rising values in the stock market, with a very fair volume of trading. To some extent the market appears to be artificial. It is true that money is easy and cheap, which enables speculators for a rise to carry their securities on more favorable terms than for years; but it is also true that industrial conditions are still far from satisfactory, and that the labor outlook is not encouraging. Our foreign commerce is also of smaller volume, and the developments in connection with the war in the far east threaten to involve other nations. Thus far the presidential campaign cannot be said to have had any effect upon the business situation.

Campaign Discord.

The Democratic managers are realizing that platform harmony at St. Louis is now producing campaign discord. Faction differences were not settled by laying down party doctrine, but were placated by platform avoidances and compromises and then discussion was prevented by adopting the previous question. But the differences stifled then are breaking out now. In the east the brief supplemental platform presented by Judge Parker in his gold standard telegram is the main thing; in the west it is the substitute platform which Mr. Bryan is presenting in his paper week after week.

In the latest issue of his paper Mr. Bryan has little to say about Judge Parker's speech of acceptance and gives it but faint praise. Mr. Bryan does not find satisfactory what Judge Parker has to say about the tariff or the trusts, and hopes that his letter of acceptance will be more specific and comprehensive upon those and other points. Meanwhile Mr. Bryan is pushing what he declares to be "the educational campaign upon which the American people have entered." In that campaign there is no mention of the St. Louis platform. It has to do altogether with the socialistic program which Mr. Bryan has promulgated. Judge Parker's election is advocated, not for what he represents, but as a step toward the triumph of "the radical and progressive" Democracy of which Mr. Bryan is the representative. Judge Parker himself is treated as a nonentity. His candidacy is accepted upon the principle that the tail goes with the hide, and that is all. The real leader is still Bryan.

Chinese Neutrality Endangered.

Count Cassini views the Ryeshitelni affair as very serious and as likely to destroy the neutrality of China. Undoubtedly that case and other matters connected with the use of Chinese territory by the Russians during the present war are fraught with great danger to Chinese neutrality, either because China does not comprehend or is unable to fulfill neutral obligations. The Ryeshitelni affair is only one of a number of cases which have arisen involving the principle of Chinese neutrality, and it is because of Japanese forbearance that an issue has not been raised before.

At the very outbreak of the war a case occurred in which Russia violated Chinese neutrality. The Mandjur was lying in the harbor of Shanghai, and in fulfillment of its obligations as a neutral the Chinese government ordered the Russian commander to leave within 24 hours. The Russian commander, however, refused to leave, and the Chinese government was afraid to enforce her rights. Referring to that case, Prof. Lawrence, lecturer on international law at Cambridge university, remarked that "Japan might have given notice to China that she would no longer respect the territorial waters of a state which seemed powerless to defend its neutrality." But Japan contented herself with remonstrance and eventually the case was settled by an agreement that the Mandjur should be dismantled. Since then Russia has frequently infringed Chinese neutrality by sending foraging expeditions into towns and districts which were not in her military possession when the war broke out. This invasion of Chinese territory was accompanied by a ferocious proclamation from Admiral Alexieff declaring that "If officials or people treat with enmity the Russian army, the Russian government will assuredly exterminate those persons, showing no mercy."

Japan took no steps to hold China to account for permitting this use of her territory by Russia, but now that Russian vessels driven out of Port Arthur are trying to use Chinese ports as a base of operations, Japan is standing up for her belligerent rights. International obligations of this character are well settled. It is inconsistent with neutral duties to allow belligerent vessels to refit or to do anything to enhance their fighting capacity. The ordinary rule is that they must leave in 24 hours. If they are unable or unwilling to comply, the neutral government may either put them out by force or take them into custody, as Germany has done with the Russian vessels which put into Kiao-Chau. If Japan can prove Chinese negligence, she can justify the seizure of the Ryeshitelni and will be also justifiable in seizing the Russian vessels now in the harbor of Shanghai, as she threatens to do unless China fulfills her neutral obligations. But we think that Japan will make a mistake if she forces the issue with China, as such conduct will be likely to raise more difficulties than she will encounter by practicing forbearance.

Chefoo reports 20,000 more Japanese slain at Port Arthur. If this keeps up there will not be a man left to accept Stoessel's sword when he decides to surrender. Chefoo will have to kill Stoessel, also, to save the situation.

Count Cassini says Russia is looking for war with China, and the Japanese are also threatening that country. That looks very much like getting between the upper and nether millstones.

District Attorney Stewart returned from the Grand Army of the Republic convention imbued with the fighting spirit, and the Allegheny grafters will now suffer the full consequences.

Here's a tip for President Dreyfuss: It would be more appropriate to have the "Iron Man" as a member of the Pittsburgh team—and a whole lot safer.

FABLES FROM THE NEWS.

The Prince was about to be Inaugurated as Governor General of a Loyal Russian Province.

"Is my Bombproof Residence properly Guarded?" he asked his Chief of Police.

"It is, Your Highness," replied the C. of P.

"And has my Bombproof Shirt been Fully Tested?" he inquired, turning to his Chief Armorer.

"On my own Body, Your Highness," replied the C. A.

"Then call the Bombproof Carriage," said the Prince, "and we will ride through the Crowds of Loyal People."

Which Shows that any Russian Official's Job is Sinecure so long as Bombproofing Material holds out.

Talked of in Gotham

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Circus lemonade is to be driven from the East Side streets. The scientists have given their verdict and have condemned the pink liquid as a dangerous concoction of tartaric acid, beet root sugar and health-destroying coloring matter. Moreover, the dentists have supported the findings of the chemists with statements that the early loss of teeth among the East Side children is due to the destructive action upon the enamel of the acids in the lemonade and soda water sold by the street peddlers. The doctors also have added the opinion that the East Side digestion is suffering from the same cause.

All this has aroused the activity of the state agricultural department and of the New York fruit exchange, which has laid before the district attorney evidence against a score of small manufacturers who supply the street peddlers with wares, for violation of the penal code forbidding the adulteration of food products. The first of these cases was heard today before Magistrate Breen, when samples of the pink lemonade and soda water flavorings of various striking colors were submitted with expert testimony as to their harmful character. The defendant, Jacob Goldstein, was held for a further hearing. The penalty involved is a fine of $500 or one year's imprisonment, or both.

Process Servers at the Grave.

Process servers interrupted the funeral services yesterday of Mrs. Heinze, in an attempt to serve a subpoena upon her son. The process servers apeared just as Mrs. Heinze's body was to be lowered into the grave in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn. Their loud inquiries as to which of the mourners was F. Augustus Heinze, the man they sought, disturbed the religious services, but the clergyman continued reading the last rites. Mr. Heinze, who was present, did not reply to their questions. Finally friends of Mr. Heinze succeeded in getting the law clerk and his muscular-looking guard away from the grave. They then called upon the cemetery watchman to keep the process servers away from the mourners.

The authorities warned the men not to interfere further, and they moved away. Otto Heinze, a brother of the Montana millionaire, denied today that the emissaries of the law had succeeded in their purpose. The paper was issued in the suit by the Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper Company and the Silver Mining Company to recover $5,300,000 as damages for the alleged wrongful conversion of ores by the defendant. The matter is another step in the copper litigation which has occupied Montana courts for years. Mrs. Heinze died at Manheim, Germany, on July 24. Her body arrived Tuesday.

School Children on Part Time.

The old grievance that, for years has caused outcries from heads of families in the city, namely, the lack of school accommodations, will be more troublesome than ever at the opening of the coming school year. Money for new schools has long been doled out with a meager hand, while the population has increased by leaps and bounds, and the cost of sites and buildings has constantly increased. To tide over the difficulty the school superintendent has been obliged to maintain two separate schools daily in most of the school buildings in the congested districts. One set of pupils occupies the building half a day and is then turned out so that another lot can be instructed during the afternoon. In this way neither secures the amount of instruction given pupils in more fortunate districts.

This year there seems no possibility that there can be fewer than 115,000 children on part time at the opening of schools. Superintendent Snyder of the bureau of buildings in the department of education is confident that he can have 20,150 new sittings ready for occupancy at the opening of the fall school term. He said today that of the eight high schools and the 56 elementary schools now building, about a dozen have been delayed by strikes.

No Water for Free Baths.

While the city has been spending millions for new public bathhouses in the interior of Manhattan island, their usefulness is threatened by a deficient water supply. One of the most expensive of these bathhouses is on high ground at Forty-first street and Eighth avenue. The formal opening of this bath took place many months ago and the people living in the neighborhood have since been anxiously awaiting the real opening, when they will be permitted to indulge in the pleasures which the establishment will afford. The plans call for facilities for filtering on the top floor. The contractor has found that the water would not reach the filters, due partly to lack of water pressure from the city supply. He explained that factories in that locality drew to such an extent from the water main as to weaken the supply. To overcome the difficulty a pumping plant is being installed in the building.

Morgue Keeper's Body in the Morgue.

Among the poorest paid employes of the city are the attendants at the morgue on the East river front. Among them was William King, a young man whose only home was the municipal lodging house. When the steamboat General Slocum left 1,000 dead upon the river, King was most untiring and sympathetic in aiding the friends and relatives of the victims. The body that attracted most attention was that of a little baby. It was one of the first brought to the morgue and remained unidentified for days, almost to the last. King took unusual interest in watching this body, and after it was placed in a casket, bought flowers every day and placed them on the casket. Afterward he left the morgue and became a steamboat deckhand. Today his body was found in the river, where he fell last night, and was taken to the morgue, being laid upon one of the slabs where he had placed hundreds of others. His fellow-workers say that King was of wealthy family and concealed his real name.

Must Be Two Hoke Smiths.

The Hon. Hoke Smith now discovers that President Cleveland really saved the country from the peril of free silver coinage. Yet, if we remember aright, the Hon Hoke himself deserted the Cleveland administration in 1896 because it would not support the Hon. William J. Bryan for the presidency on a free silver platform.—New York Tribune.

The Cocaine Fiend

THE STROLLER.

"The cocaine fiend is more of a nuisance than the man who wants to be straightened up after a jag."

That was the remark of my friend the druggist, when the papers announced that some of his brethren had been hailed to court on a charge of selling "dope." Any downtown druggist will tell you that he could make a fortune dealing in this proscribed concoction if he cared to develop a trade and take chances with the law and his conscience. A "coke fiend" would barter his shoes and his shirt for a bit of the memory killer. And he works all sorts of schemes to get the stuff.

"Not long ago a chap entered the store while I was busy," said my friend the druggist, "and asked me for a bunch of prescription blanks for Dr. Blank, whose office is only a square away. It was a moment of preoccupation on my part, and I handed out a pad of blanks. In a couple of days the same chap returned with a prescription for cocaine, signed by this same physician. He didn't get it. I happened to know the signature of the physician, and it was not done well on this particular prescription.

"More than a prescription is necessary to fool a druggist. It looks easy to copy a form from one piece of paper to another, but not one person in ten who does not know medicine can do it successfully. We can spot a forger more easily than a bank cashier. There's always something missing when an amateur writes a prescription.

"I have always been against cocaine on general principles, and have never handled the fake stuff that the fiend delights in. If a man wants to kill himself, whisky will do it quick enough, and he needn't stick to drug store whisky at that. Even before the law was passed by the last legislature I refused to deal in cocaine for the use of habitues of the drug. But the law made me lots of trouble nevertheless. Not because I sold it, but because I didn't. Other druggists shutting down on its sale caused the fiends to skirmish among stores they never before visited, and mine was one of them. They came in droves, and some of them even had the nerve to tell me they had gotten the drug from me before. I laughed at them, but they insisted. I know my clerks never sold them any, because there was no flake cocaine in the house. But the fiends knew more about it than I did, apparently.

"It was the fact that I had no flake in the store that saved me a bit of trouble with a doctor the other day. A genuine prescription came in, brought by a woman I knew to be a fiend. I refused to fill it, although the doctor sends a large number of prescriptions of various sorts to me. A few days later I had a call from the doctor.

"'Did you turn down a prescription of mine for cocaine the other day?' he asked.

"'I did,' I replied.

"'She needed the drug and should have had it,' said the doctor. 'I don't like that sort of business.'

"I was mighty glad to be able to prove to him that I had no flake cocaine in stock, for his business is worth having.

"Ordinary folks would be surprised at the number of cocaine fiends in the city," continued the druggist. "If 10 per cent of them have visited my store, there must be thousands in the city. They include all sorts and colors, and every nationality is represented. I have had callers who knew only the word 'coke,' who had no word of English to explain what they wanted the drug for. But they are all treated alike. I don't want their trade, and mighty few druggists are hankering for it."

Being on particular good terms with my friend the druggist, I see many of the worries a man of his profession must stand. Sitting in his store the other night about closing time, which means midnight, the hour that the saloons close, I saw a chap come in and whisper confidentially across the counter.

"Can't do anything for you," I heard the druggist say.

The customer became insistent.

"Nothing doing. Good night," said the druggist.

The fellow walked to the door, then turned back and said:

"I have a prescription."

"I haven't seen any prescription," said the druggist.

"I'm to foxy for that," replied the chap as he went out the door. "If you got your hands on it you'd keep it."

To my query as to what the fellow wanted, the druggist replied that he wanted a drink of whisky to straighten out his nerves, as he had been on a tear.

"If he had had a prescription it would have done him no good. A few more drinks would send him to the hospital for repairs. I'm an expert on those fellows," concluded my friend the druggist.

Pattison and the Urchins.

Apropos of the many eulogies of the late Gov. Pattison, a West Philadelphian tells of an incident in which the governor figured and which speaks volumes for that generous spirit and kind-heartedness that won for him such widespread friendship and affection.

It happened just after his second election to the governorship. The governor was living at the time at Thirty-seventh and Chestnut streets. On his way home on this particular day, he passed the corner of Thirty-fourth and Market streets, where about a dozen of the dirtiest looking urchins it was possible to find were playing in the street. As he neared the crowd one of the boys who knew who the governor was saw him coming.

"Here comes our governor," shouted the youngster, "let's give him a cheer."

Taking the cue, the "bunch" each and all, doffed their caps and set up "Three cheers for Gov. Pattison!"

The governor raised his hat and smiled a "thank you" on the urchins. A few paces further on he turned and showered a handful of coins on them.

"And much as boys like money," said the West Philadelphian, "do you know those boys thought more of that smile and the big governor raising his hat than of the coins, for, with the exception of a couple of them, they stood and looked after him going down the street before they stopped to gather them up."—Philadelphia Press.

MAN HIGHER UP MAY BE EXPOSED

Sensation Expected to Develop in Hearing to Have Tschume License Revoked.

IS THERE A BOSS GRAFTER?

"Where does the other 25 cents go, or is it 35 cents?" is the question that the district attorney will try to have answered today.

District Attorney Stewart is deeply interested in the hearing of the petition of the Anti-Saloon league to have the wholesale license of Frederick Tschume of Allegheny revoked. It is true that the Anti-Saloon league has private counsel, John Marion, but the district attorney and at least one of his assistants, will be at the hearing today. They may become active participants, too.

It is believed that a great graft sensation may be unearthed. The district attorney, the Anti-Saloon league and men who have watched the things that have been going on under the surface will be much surprised if the name of the man "higher up," the man who is supposed to profit from the illegal liquor traffic in Allegheny, does not become public. Somebody, it is believed, is getting 25 or 35 cents on every case of beer sold to disorderly houses, and the lines have been drawn so tight that there may be no escape for him.

Means a Comfortable Income.

Thirty-five cents is not much money, but when it is considered that from 2,000 to 3,000 cases of beer are sold every week in Allegheny, the "rake-off" of 35 cents on each case would mean an independent living to the man who gets the money.

"Who is he?"

That is the question for which the district attorney would like to have an answer.

In its petition to have the license of Tschume revoked the Anti-Saloon league alleged that Tschume sold beer to disorderly houses, against the rules of the license court, and even, it is asserted, in defiance of the law itself. Berry, the league's chief detective, and other detectives employed by it, followed it is averred, Tschume's wagons to every house at which beer was delivered and took down the name of the proprietresses of disorderly houses encountered in this visitation. Many of the women have been subpenaed to give testimony at the hearing, although it may not be necessary to take their evidence.

In the course of their investigations the detectives learned that about four months ago the price charged disorderly houses by an Allegheny bottler for beer was raised from $1 a dozen quart bottles, to $1.25.

Why the Price Was Raised.

This seemed strange to the detectives and they investigated further. They learned that the breweries had not increased the tariff on beer by the barrel and that the bottlers doing a legitimate trade considered $1 gave a very good profit; in fact, some of these sold beer to private consumers for 90 cents a dozen quarts.

The detectives learned that in some way the proprietresses of disorderly houses had conceived the idea that it would be better for them if they bought beer from Tschume, even at the high price of $1.25 a dozen. It is said that Tschume would be satisfied with a price of 90 cents.

Who gets the other 35 or 35 cents?

Judge Elliott Rodgers will preside at the hearing.

There was lively scurrying among the police of Allegheny last night, for Detective Berry was abroad, accompanied by Amos A. Dachroth, the Allegheny expoliceman. Berry was supplied with subpoenas and Dachroth pointed out the policemen whose names were on the papers. The news got abroad, and on some beats Berry had difficulty in locating his men; some of them he missed entirely. Dachroth is the man who charged that an Allegheny police captain had received money for "protection" from women running disorderly houses. That he was present when subpoenas for the Tschume hearing were distributed is considered as proof positive that the Tschume charges and the Dachroth accusations hang together.

Stewart Back from Boston.

During Maj. Stewart's absence Assistant District Attorney Robb conducted an investigation of the graft charges made by Policeman Amos A. Dachroth of Allegheny. Robb went away on his vacation before Stewart's return, and until he comes back the district attorney will not express his opinion of the facts learned in the investigation. Maj. Stewart said he had not yet decided whether to ask for a special grand jury to investigate the charges.

A property owner of Corry street, Allegheny, recently posted up a sign on the doors of one of his houses, advising prospective tenants to "apply to Capt. James Wilson, mayor's office, city hall." The sign was taken down by two detectives. The man says the police practically drove out the women who rented his houses, and that until recently tenants who wanted to rent were in some way frightened away. He says he put up the sign because the police seemed to have the power to say what houses might be rented for disorderly purposes in Allegheny, for while his were vacant others rented.

BOWEN REQUESTS VENEZUELA TO RETURN ASPHALT LAKE

America Wants Status Quo Resumed Until Venezuian Court Makes a Final Decision.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PORT OF SPAIN, ISLAND OF TRINIDAD, Aug. 19.—Advices were received today from Caracas saying the American minister, Mr. Bowen, in the name of the United States has requested Venezuela to remove Mr. Carter, the receiver appointed to take charge of the property of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company, and to return the asphalt lake to the American company.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—It is learned at the state department that there have been no recent instructions to Mr. Bowen relative to the asphalt question, but several weeks ago he was told that he should represent to President Castro that this government had been informed the seizure of the property of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company appeared to be illegal; that it was certainly made without due notice to the company; that such action was scarcely judicial and fair, while the case was still pending before the Venezuelan courts and therefore that this government requested President Castro to suspend Receiver Carter from the discharge of his functions and to restore the asphalt property to the company, pending the final action of the Venezuelan court. In other words, this government desired to secure a return to the status before the seizure. Nothing has been since heard from Mr. Bowen, save a mail report already referred to, telling of the events leading up to the seizure.

Aged Man Hurt Seriously.

James Callahan, aged about 65, was perhaps fatally injured at Frankstown avenue and Inwood street, East End, last night. Callahan was driving across the tracks when a car struck the wagon, hurling him to the pavement. The man was picked up unconscious and taken to the East End hospital. He sustained a fractured leg and several other wounds.

FEW JAPANESE WOUNDED DIE

Surgeon Ascribes This to Non-Interference With Injuries on Field.

VISIT WITH CHINESE BANDITS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—Maj. Louis L. Seaman, a specialist in military surgery who has seen much of the Japanese hospitals and who has been with the Chunchuses or Chinese bandits near Mukden, has arrived at Chefoo. He gave some interesting observations on the Japanese method of treating wounded men. He says that the Japanese are giving proof of the benefits to be derived from the non-interference with wounds on the field, where they content themselves with the application of first aid bandages and antiseptics, leaving the more serious work to be done in the hospitals at home.

This course is followed except where there is danger of the wounded men bleeding to death, or where his condition is very precarious. The result of this practice has been that many men suffering from bullet wounds at the front are nearly well when they reach Japan. In one hospital ship returning to Japan from the front there were 2,200 wounded men, and there was not a single death on board during the trip. Three per cent will cover all the deaths among the wounded who have been returned to Japan after having received first aid treatment.

If the Japanese soldier is not killed outright the chances are that he will recover. His temperate habits and his plain and healthful diet of fish and rice, varied occasionally with meat, contribute much to his recovery. Russian wounded captured by the Japanese have been treated in a similar manner, and the recovery among these men are scarcely less in proportion than among the Japanese.

A new complication has been discovered in the wounds sustained in this war, due to the extraordinary high speed of small caliber bullets, which produce aneurisms by their speed. Maj. Seaman saw 27 operations performed for the relief of this new condition.

After having spent some time in Japan, Maj. Seaman, accompanied by Capt. Charles T. Boyd of the Tenth United States infantry, was the guest of Chungezolin, a Chunchus chief near Sin-Min-Tung, where the Chunchuses number 10,000 men. The major declared these men to be in the employ of the Japanese, who pay the infantry 15 taels a month and the cavalry 25 taels a month. There are many Japanese officers among these forces, who are used to harass the Russians.

During the visit of Maj. Seaman and Capt. Boyd the bandits brought in the heads of five Cossacks on pikes. These Cossacks had been part of a detachment of 35 men who were engaged in securing 1,000 head of cattle. After the bandits defeated the Russian detachment they appropriated the cattle.

The Chunchuses pride themselves on their horsemanship, and the visiting officers owe their welcome among them to some West Point riding tricks showed them by Capt. Boyd. The attack of the Chunchuses on the Cossack detachment with the cattle resulted in a force of 3,000 Cossacks marching out to avenge the killing of their comrades. Thereupon the robber chief said his visitors had better go, as he could not undertake to protect them. Consequently Maj. Seaman and Capt. Boyd left the bandit's headquarters.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—Lieut.-Col. Walter S. Schuyler and Capt. Carl Reichmann of the United States army, according to the latest information, are with the Seventeenth corps. Maj. Montgomery M. Macomb of the United States artillery corps is with the First corps, and Capt. M. V. Judson of the United States engineer corps is at Mukden. The latter probably will go to Vladivostok. He has requested to be assigned there in the double capacity of military and naval attache. The United States is the only country having four military attaches with the Russian forces. Great Britain, France and Germany each have only three.

CONFIRMS REPORT THAT CHINESE ARE DRILLING

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—William Martin, United States consul at Nankin, China, who arrived from the orient on the steamer Siberia, is quoted in an interview here as saying that immense bodies of Chinese troops are now drilling in the central portion of the kingdom under the direction of Japanese officers well versed in the art of modern warfare. The soldiers have been supplied with the Mauser type of rifles, and the most up-to-date machine guns obtainable are now being purchased for their use. In the vicinity of Nankin alone there are about 5,000 soldiers drilling constantly.

MISS HELEN M. GOULD WILL FIGHT MOSQUITOES

She Will Also Make an Effort to Exterminate the Sparrow—Studies Natural History.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Miss Helen Miller Gould has decided to aid in fighting the mosquito and also to drive out the sparrow, which bird, naturalists believe, is one cause of the prevalence of the insect.

For some days Miss Gould has had among her guests at her country home at Roxbury, N. Y., Col. Isaac W. Brown. Col. Brown is known throughout the west as "the bird and the bee man" of Indiana. For a number of years he has been a recognized authority on the habits of birds, bees and insects. In Miss Gould's pursuit of her study of naturalists' questions she became interested in Col. Brown's work and invited him to be her guest for several days.

Since he has been a guest Col. Brown has instructed Miss Gould and her friends in the study of natural history, giving particular attention to the question of the extermination of the mosquito.

REBELS CAPTURE MINISTER OF WAR

Paraguayan Insurgents Marching on Asuncion by Land—Good Shooting by Their Navy.

THREATS TO BOMBARD AGAIN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 19.—The insurgents have seized another steamer, which had on board the minister of war and a small escort. The minister and his companions were made prisoners. The vessel was towing four lighters loaded with 190 bullocks for the garrison. These were confiscated.

At the conference on one of the insurgent steamers after the bombardment of Asuncion, last Wednesday, between the Ministers of Argentina, Brazil, Italy and France, and the insurgent leaders, the latter said that after the ministers left the vessel they would fire two more shots, one at the residence of President Escurra and the other at the church, concealing the battery, in order to demonstrate the excellence of their artillery. The shots were fired, and both the president's residence and the church were hit. No further bombardment has been reported.

The insurgent commander, with 2,000 land forces, is approaching Asuncion. One of the insurgent steamers has sailed for the Villa Hayes, north of the capital. The Villa Hayes is the only point which can now be communicated with. Asuncion is completely isolated.

The foreign ministers have offered their intervention, to which offer the insurgent leaders replied that they would permit President Escurra to continue in office, but would demand the resignation of the ministers and other high officials of the government. The insurgents' terms were conveyed to the government officials and promptly declined. The insurgents then sent an ultimatum demanding the surrender of the capital within 24 hours, saying that should this demand be not granted the bombardment of Asuncion would be resumed.

A dispatch from Buenos Ayres, August 12, said that the insurgents had captured a steamer commandeered by the government and that the acting minister of war, who was on board the steamer, attempted to escape by jumping overboard and swimming to the river bank. He was, however, taken prisoner before reaching the shore. The name of the acting minister was not given. The minister of war is Col. Antonio Caceras, who was appointed when President Escurra assumed office in 1902.

LOND DISTANCE WRITING MACHINE FOR THE NAVY

The Bureau of Equipment Is Conducting Experiments With the Telautograph.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The bureau of equipment of the navy department is conducting experiments just now with the telautograph, an instrument that, it is believed, will eventually be introduced in the navy for use on warships. The telautograph is a long distance writing machine. Simply state, two peculiarly constructed writing pads are electrically connected, and anything written on one pad is exactly reproduced on the other, whether it be a yard or a mile or a dozen leagues away.

Recently, during target practice by vessels of the North Atlantic squadron, written orders were conveyed from the conning tower to the engine room of the flagship by means of the telautograph, and the writing on the second pad was perfectly legible. When it is considered that the big guns of the ships were banging away merrily at the time and the ship was shaking from stem to stern with the force of the discharges, the performance of the delicate instrument is considered little short of marvelous.

Further experiments will be conducted and if the performances of the telautograph are uniformly satisfactory, it will undoubtedly be introduced on board the ships of the navy. It is believed that the instrument will be particularly valuable during naval engagements when the din of battle mages the receipt of oral orders rather uncertain. Besides, the telautograph always leaves a written record of orders given, and in case of a controversy following a misunderstanding of orders given, a reference to its pages would settle the matter immediately.

BRIBE-GIVER IS EQUALLY GUILTY

District Attorney Jerome Loses His Temper in Discussing the Weinseimer Indictment.

MORE PROSECUTIONS TO COME

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—"You people are no better than the employes. You are just as guilty in bribing labor leaders as they are in taking the bribes. Don't tell me that you are actuated by altruistic motives in prosecuting Weinseimer eight months after this bribing of Essig. Bah! Wait till September 1 and I'll make it hot for you."

In an angry voice that rang through the criminal court's corridors today District Attorney Jerome made this declaration to J. F. Johnson, Jr., of Johnson, Kahn & Co., members of the Building Trades Employers' association. He was referring to the association, and not Mr. Johnson individually.

September 1 is the date for the Prince bill, making the bribe giver equally guilty with the bribe taker, and depriving him of the defense that he may take refuge behind now, that he is the victim of extortion.

Johnson, Kahn & Co. are owners and builders of the Chatsworth apartment house at Riverside drive and Seventy-second street. A plumbing strike was called on this building, and Essig, a subcontractor, declared he paid $2,700 to Philip Weinseimer, president of the Building Trades alliance, to have the strike called. This resulted in Weinseimer's indictment by the grand jury.

Johnson met the district attorney as Jerome was leaving the grand jury room today. The contractor was angry. He stopped Mr. Jerome in front of his office and said:

"What do you mean, Jerome, by charging before Magistrate Mosa that the builders in the employers' association are as guilty as Weinseimer and that crowd? You ought to have better taste than to make such a statement."

When first interrupted Mr. Jerome's brow knitted. As Johnson proceeded he became more and more angry, and finally, unable to restrain himself, he let out the secret which he has been keeping since the arrest of Weinseimer, the subsequent prosecution of the members of the Building Trades association who have paid "graft" money.

After his outburst, directed at the members of the employers' association, Mr. Jerome hurried into his office, Johnson, worried and looking as if he had been unexpectedly caught in a cyclone, walked away.

District Attorney Jerome had a subpoena issued today for the appearance before the grand jury of a well-known plumber, who is alleged to have paid President Weinseimer of the alliance some money to stop a strike. A subpoena was also issued for F. J. Seeley, a labor editor, of No. 25 Park Row, who is a personal friend of Weinseimer.

FEMALE DISEASE THAT BAFFLED DOCTORS

Pe-ru-na Restored This Happy Woman To Perfect Health.

Read of Pe-ru-na's Work in Oregon, Illinois and Other States.

Mrs. Annie Harpole, 401 Hoyt Street, Portland, Ore., State Secretary Daughters of Liberty, writes:

"For over eight years I suffered with intense pains in the abdomen and pelvic organs. Through a neglected cold I contracted a severe catarrh which went through my system and finally settled in the bladder, causing great pain. My husband spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines without obtaining relief for me. I finally decided that I would try Peruna, as a friend recommended it so highly. I am pleased to say that relief came to me shortly after I began taking it and at the end of three months I was in perfect health. I also took Peruna before and after my baby came, and quickly restored my health and strength."
MRS. ANNIE HARPOLE.

There are so many women, especially married women who drag themselves wearily around from year to year without any particular disease, and yet miserable beyond description. They ache, and tremble, and throb, growing more nervous, tired and debilitated every day.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever seated. Not having any stimulating effect, but containing nourishment with every drop, Peruna cannot help but cure.

Single women all over the United States and women who are made happy mothers add their testimony to the thousands that come in every day.

Study your case, and when you have read these certificates you will find that Peruna will help, and not only help, but cure you.

Peruna does not claim to cure every ill under the sun, but over forty years' trial has gained the distinction for it of being the most marvelous cure for catarrhal affections extant. Scientists and physicians have recorded their recognition of it apart from all other medicines—as a success.

Pe-ru-na Is a Success.

It seems strange that as well known and well established as these facts are that anyone should neglect to profit by them.

All correspondence held strictly confidential.

Life Was a Burden Until Miss Harris Tried Pe-ru-na.

Miss Annette Harris, 88 Catalpa Place, Chicago, Ill., member West Side Ladies' Bowling club, writes:

"Now that I have regained my health and strength I am only too glad to tell what cured me. I was a sufferer for years, and although I tried many doctors and medicines, nothing seemed to hit my case, until I took Peruna, and this was only after life had become a burden to me and I was unable to stand on my feet for any length of time. After taking one bottle I felt much improved. I kept on taking it until I had taken nine bottles and then considered myself cured. I can now do my work with ease, can walk as well as I ever could, and at night feel only a natural tiredness. I sleep the night through, while before I could not sleep longer than an hour at a time. I am thankful to Peruna for my health."—Miss Annette Harris.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

One of Victims Suffers Loss of Eyesight and Other Injuries and Probably Will Die.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

The three men, with John Duke, Jr., were about to put off a shot. The cap had been placed on the squib and when it was struck to drive it more securely into the hole, there was a sudden explosion that hurled all the men against the side of the room. EDWARDS TO BOLT THIRD WEST VIRGINIA CONVENTION

Gaines Continues to Refuse to Compromise, as Suggested by Republican National Executive Committee.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 19.—The delegates from Kanawha county to the Republican convention left here this evening for Hinton, where the convention will be held tomorrow to nominate a candidate for the Third congressional district. The Gaines faction, having refused to consider any of the propositions made by the national executive committee in the hope of harmonizing the factions, there seems to be no doubt that there will be two conventions and two candidates. H. D. Pummel, one of Congressman Gaines' chief lieutenants, said today that Mr. Gaines had made the fight for renomination and had nothing to compromise or arbitrate and that Mr. Gaines and his supporters believed the organization to be strong enough to elect their candidate over the combined strength of the following of Mr. Edwards and the Democratic candidate.

Both Mr Gaines and Mr. Edwards, his opponent for the nomination, have selected delegates in the counties of Kanawha, Fayette, Clay and Summers. The Gaines people are in control of the machine in every county in the district save Nicholas, where of the 11 delegates Gaines claims seven and Edwards four. The Gaines delegations will be seated in every one of the contested counties, with the result that their opponents will withdraw and hold a separate convention and nominate William S. Edwards.

KAUFMANN'S

"THE BIG STORE"

All men's suits and Trousers at exactly Half-off-marked-price

IT'S a clear, clean cut of 50 per cent—simply deduct half off the price marked on the ticket. Select any garment you may fancy, be it an imported fancy worsted, cassimere or cheviot, a plain blue or black serge, or an unfinished worsted or thibet—there is no reservation whatsoever, excepting the full dress garments and liveries, and the same with our entire stock of men's trousers—just pay one-half what the price tag calls for. Many stores hang on to their stock until the last day of the season, in order to realize all the profit they possibly can out of it. Just the contrary with Kaufmann's; we prefer taking large sacrifices—and really accept them gladly—if they are the means to the closing out of our entire stock in its respective season. And, of course, they are. Our loss naturally redounds to your advantage. We are both benefited, you in saving exactly 50 per cent, and we in starting the new season with a strictly new stock. No matter how small the income of a man, there is no excuse for not buying a new suit of clothes now, with an additional pair of trousers—when they may be bought for just one-half what they sold for earlier in the season.

WILL TAKE CONTROL OF PANAMA RAILROAD

Cabinet Discusses Abrogation of Agreement With Pacific Steamship Company.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Abrogation of the agreement between the Panama railroad and the Paific Mail Steamship Company, which monopolizes the Pacific coast carrying trade from the isthmus, was considered by the president and his cabinet today. The jobbers of the Pacific coast, who feel that for years they have been obliged to pay exorbitant freight rates by reason of this combination, have now brought great influence to bear upon the administration to dissolve the contract.

In 1892 the Panama railroad made an agreement with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to operate steamers from Panama to the Pacific coast. The Panama Railroad Company operates its own steamers from Colon to Atlantic ports and the Pacific Mail Company from Panama to Pacific ports. Through freight rates from New York to the Pacific coast, via Panama, keep suspiciously level with the rates on the transcontinental railroads. The Harriman interests, which control the Union and Southern Pacific railroads, are understood to dominate in the present directory of the Panama railroad.

The United States now owns 93 70ths of the Panama railroad stock, but the directors now holding office, were elected before the road with the rest of the property on the canal strip, passed to the ownership of the United States. It was understood at the time of the transfer that the 15 old directors, although they were entitled to hold office until April 1, next, would willingly and gracefully step out and permit the members of the American canal commission gradually to take their places. Three members of the canal commission are now directors of the railroad, but they cannot control.

But Secretary Taft, under whose control lie the affairs of the canal zone, has not met with this willingness to defer to the United States. To abrogate the contract now existing it is necessary that six months' notice shall be given. Although the administration withholds announcement of what it would like to do, there is considerable annoyance that the directory cannot be at once filled with representatives of the United States government.

BARBARA HECK'S MEMORY HONORED BY METHODISTS

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The 100th anniversary of the death of Barbara Heck, the founder of Methodism in America, is being commemorated by a large gathering of Methodists from the United States and Canada, at her grave in Blue Church cemetery, on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence, three miles from here. Through her efforts the first Methodist sermon was preached in New York, in 1776.

Six Prisoners Escape.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 19.—In an attempted general jail delivery in the Camden county jail today six prisoners escaped and are still at large. Among those who escaped is Alfred Harvey, colored, who was nearly lynched yesterday because of an attempted assault on a little white girl. A general alarm has been sent to the Philadelphia police and the authorities of this city have every available policeman searching for the escaped men.

ONE OF MOUNTAIN STATE'S STALWART REPUBLICANS

SAMUEL B. MONTGOMERY.

Mr. Montgomery is one of the stalwart young Republicans of the Mountain state and is the Republican candidate for state senator in the Fourteenth senatorial district. He was born in Barbour county May 15, 1876, and comes of fighting stock. An uncle was killed and his father wounded with the "Fighting Seventh" at Antietam. Mr. Montgomery was educated in public and private schools, was elected justice of Kingwood district in 1900; elected mayor of Tunnelton in 1902; re-elected in 1903; was nominated for the senate at Parsons April 27 and expects to be elected by 4,000 majority. As a public official he has been very friendly to labor and in local circles is called "the miners' friend."

RICE WANTS $3,000,000 FROM STANDARD OIL.

Ohio Man Begins Another Suit Against the Big Combine for Ruining His Business.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 19.—George Rice of Marietta, O., commenced suit in the United States circuit court today for $3,000,000 damages against the Standard Oil Company for the alleged ruining of his oil business by the defendant company. Rice charges that the Standard Oil Company compelled railroads to charge his customers exorbitant freight rates; that the company opened grocery stores to break down his competition, and in other ways succeeded in taking away from him 4,000 customers, an oil refining plant worth $750,000, and a business worth $50,000 a year.

This suit is brought under the interstate commerce act of 1890, and is similar in character to one entered in the court of chancery of New Jersey by Rice, in which he seeks to compel the revocation of the company's charter under the laws of New Jersey. While the damages claimed are $3,000,000, the actual amount is $1,000,000.

Jaw Broken in a Fight.

C. D. Sydner, an advertising solicitor of 10 Diamond street, is at the Homeopathic hospital in a serious condition. His right lower jaw is broken, several teeth are knocked out and he has an ugly cut under the chin. He was found at Third avenue and Smithfield street and sent to Central station. City Physician A. E. McCandless sent him to the hospital. An investigation by the police shows that Sydner had a fight with some men who, after knocking him down and beating him into unconsciousness, ran away. The police have good descriptions of them.

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS FIRED UPON IN ILLINOIS

Train Showered With Bullets as Men Proceed to the Leiter Property.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CARBONDALE, ILL., Aug. 19.—The most serious trouble which has occurred at the Leiter mines in Zeigler marked the importation of 40 skilled miners from Pennsylvania. The men had come all the distance in a Pittsburgh and Youngstown car and were met at Christopher by a furious fusilade lasting five minutes, presumably from the striking miners concealed in ambush. Special efforts seemed to be made to hit the engineer, as many shots missed him only a few inches.

Bullets ploughed into the hardwood covering of the car at all angles, showing a heavy fire from rifles and shotguns both on the approach and retirement of the train. The shots were plainly heard in Zeigler. The trainmen returned under escort of United States deputies and Zeigler guards, which escort will remain with the train until it returns with another importation of laborers. Three guards were slightly wounded, one in the arm, one in the neck and one in the head.

The men in the car were not permitted to converse even with the trainmen. Despite the fact that Leiter claims to have sufficient help, having now over 400 men at work, he still continues to import them, owing to the large number who constantly desert.

ROOT'S STAND FIRM.

Will Not Take Gubernatorial Nomination and His Friends Give Up Hope.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Elihu Root has made it so plain to Republican leaders, both national and state, that he will not accept the Republican nomination for governor of New York, that those who are in a position to know are confident that he will not be named for the place. President Roosevelt knows the position of his former secretary of war, and his closest friends have ceased to believe that Mr. Root will be the nominee. Within a very few days it is expected that an announcement will be made in such terms that all talk of Mr. Root's candidacy will cease.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Former Ambassador Andrew D. White said today concerning the report that he has been approached as a candidate for governor of New York on the Republican ticket: "I am entirely and finally out of all political life, save as a simple citizen."

They will compete against teams from England, France and other foreign countries for the world's championship. There are unusually large prizes offered.

Fire Marshal to Investigate.

Mystery surrounds the origin of the fire at the tailor shop of S. Sherf of Millvale, Thursday night. A man is said to have been seen dashing out of the rear of the building just previous to the explosion of gasoline. Fire Marshal McGill will investigate the case today on behalf of the Allegheny County Board of Fire Underwriters.

PERSONALS

Bishop W. B. Derrick of the African Methodist Episcopal church left last night for Flushing, L. I. He has been in the city several days looking after the interests of his constituents. Bishop Derrick has charge of the largest diocese in the world. His territory consists of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, West Indian islands, South America and the west coast of Africa. He was born in the West Indies at Antigua, came to the United States at the opening of the civil war and served until its close. When seen at the Union station last evening he was asked for his opinion of the lynching in Georgia. He said: "The south is made up of two classes of people; one is civilized and the other is brutish. The white or black men who violate the law should be punished according to the deed committed, and the element that sets aside the laws of the country and commits such crimes are brutish. The proposition to rid the south of the colored people and supplant them with Italians and similar foreigners will not materialize. The foreign element realizes they are discriminated against, which is proven by their forming colonies in the hearts of cities. It is not feasible to induce them to migrate into a country where one element has been driven out."

Ferdinand Morris of Cambridge, O., passed through the city last evening on his way home from attending the G. A. R. encampment. He said: "Although the sights and incidents at Boston were highly interesting, yet the most pleasant feature of my trip was a visit to Washington. In company with a comrade I walked around the White House at 7 o'clock in the morning. What was strikingly peculiar was the fact that we did not meet a person; not even a policeman, let alone state guards. It was impressive to realize that the home of the chief magistrate of the greatest nation on the face of the earth should be unprotected while the homes of rulers of small countries are always surrounded by soldiers keeping watch."

The Rev. Homer A. Flint, archdeacon of the Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. E. H. Young, associate rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, leave Monday morning for New York for a tour of Europe. They sail Thursday on the Hamburg-American liner Blucher, and while abroad will visit England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Italy, Switzerland, France, Wales and Ireland.

Alderman C. C. McGovern left last night for St. Louis, where he will spend a week visiting the fair.

United States District Attorney James S. Young has received word of the arrival of his son, Lieut. James S. Young, Jr., in San Francisco from the Philippines. Lieut. Young will apply for a furlough in order to visit his parents. He has seen service in Cuba and the Philippines since 1901.

Gen. Archibald J. Sampson, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the republic of Ecuador, South America, was in Pittsburgh yesterday calling on a number of friends. Gen. Sampson, who is a veteran of the civil war, has just returned from his post in the south, being on leave of absence. He left last evening for Cadiz, O., to visit friends and will go from there to his home at Phoenix, Ariz.

W. E. Morris, clerk at the Hotel Anderson, left last night for a two weeks' trip to Canada.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Pirates won a double distinction today, they not only won the present series from McGraw's pennant aspirants at the Polo grounds this afternoon, three games to two, but they went "Mugsy" one better on the season's games, which now stands 8 to 7 in favor of the Champions. Today's score was 3 to 2. Pittsburgh winning in the ninth inning. It was a hard-played contest from start to finish, with the result in doubt until the last man was retired.

The two youngsters, Lynch and Ames, were on the firing line for their teams. The collegian never faltered for a minute and studied his batter to perfection, disposing of the weak hitters on easy grounders and pop flies and making the "pinch" hitters and sluggers put the wood on the ball, depending on his teammates to do the rest. This they did to perfection, every man, with the exception of McCormick, who played in left field, and Lynch having two or more chances to his credit. So sharp was the fielding that Bransfield only had five chances at first. Ames' pitching on paper looks good, he being credited with two passes and nine strike-outs against Lynch's six gifts and four strike-outs. Neither team did much with their bats during the game and only in one inning did Mike allow the Giants to connect for more than one hit.

Leach's daring base running in the first inning seemed to inspire his men. Tommy took all kinds of chances on the base lines and only stopped when he dashed over the rubber with the first run for his side in the breakaway. The wild

HOT SHOT FROM GOV. LAFOLLETTE

Declares There Will Be No Harmony in Wisconsin Until His Ideas Prevail.

ATTACKS THE CORPORATIONS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19.—Gov. Lafollette opened his campaign at Eau Claire last evening. It is evident from the governor's initial effort that there will be no peace or harmony within the Republican ranks in Wisconsin until he has succeeded in securing control. He says so himself. But more sensational than this was the roasting which the governor gave his opponents and the corporations. The speech was piping hot and he grilled his antagonists to a turn.

He first declared that this was a campaign of principles and not men, that reform was needed and must be carried out, one of the principles of which was the primary election. Speaking regarding this Gov. LaFollette illustrated the necessity for such a law in the events of his own candidacies. He said:

"I knew in 1896 that I had votes enough among the delegates elected to the state convention to nominate me. Those were pledged to me. I saw them taken away from me by unlawful means, which should have sent some men to the penitentiary. Delegates were taken to a room in a hotel and there offered money to change their votes. None of the men took the money, but afterward came to me and told me about it. They said that in the room in question money in large bills was stacked up on a table and held down by paper weights.

"One of the bosses of that time came to me and said: 'Now LaFollette, we've got you beat, but if you keep still and don't squeal, we'll take care of you when the time comes.' I refused, but events took place just as he had predicted. I then determined to begin an investigation and direct my efforts toward correcting the evils which confronted the people."

He said that his investigations showed the close relationship of the bosses to corporations. The corporations had been cheating the people for years, and if the people of the state had as much spirit as a spaniel dog they would rise and overthrow this control. The governor said that he would not stop his work until his efforts for a representative form of government were successful.

"My answer to these attacks from the corporations and their allies," he said, "is that the railroad companies must pay their share of the taxes, must carry goods and people just as cheaply in this state as elsewhere, and you will have no peace or harmony until these questions are settled right."

MAY NOT HOUSE MEN IN PACKING PLANTS

Chicago's Corporation Counsel Gives This Opinion to Mayor, Who Orders It Carried Out.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Corporation Counsel Tolman has given to Mayor Harrison an opinion declaring the packers at the stock yards have no legal right to house men in their packing houses. The opinion was given in response to the request of the mayor, who was informed by the Chicago Federation of Labor that the packers were boarding men contrary to law. The mayor sent the opinion to Chief of Police O'Neill with instructions to see that the packers obeyed the law.

George F. Golden, head of the striking packing house teamsters, was found not guilty of disorderly conduct this afternoon by jury in the court of Justice Quinn. Police inspector Hunt preferred charges against Golden for ordering a teamster who was hauling a load of meat to take it back to the place where he procured it.

Packing house employes and hungry strikers vied with each other in a steer hunt that extended throughout the night following the riot precipitated by the appearance of 11 runaway beeves from Morris & Co.'s plant in the district west of the stock yards last evening. Today the carcasses of four were accounted for. Little beyond the hoofs and horns remained to tell the story, and there was an ample beef supply in many a home to which such a luxury has long been a stranger.

CRUSHED BETWEEN ROLLS.

Charles Nelson Fatally Hurt at Duquesne—"Tom" Tracy Said to Have Been Drowned.

Charles Nelson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of North Third street, Duquesne, died at the McKeesport hospital at 9 o'clock last night from injuries received at the Duquesne steel mills, where he was employed as a roll greaser. With a companion, young Nelson was playing about the machinery shortly before the quitting hour and he climbed to a point above the rolls which roll steel billets into rails and rods. The boy slipped and fell head downward, directly between two of the rolls. His entire body passed between them before the machinery could be stopped.

Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport yesterday received an anonymous letter from Pittsburgh stating that "Tom" Tracy's body was in the Monongahela river, where he had been drowned while swimming. Tom Tracy is well known in McKeesport, where he has a wife and several children. He was a barber.

William Phillips, aged 60, was found dead in his bed at his home in Cliff street, Pindley township, at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

There are three bodies booked from Pittsburgh. The one leaving last evening was Tancred commandery.

Tancred commandery left under the leadership of Right Eminent Commander J. S. Bell. They will be away 21 days and, with the exception of three days, will be traveling nearly all the time.

This morning the Allegheny commandery will leave Union station on a special train under the leadership of Right Eminent Commander W. L. Kahlmeyer. Pittsburgh commandery will travel over the Wabash route, starting next Wednesday under the command of Right Eminent Commander Edward Lewis.

WANT A PLAYGROUND.

South Siders to Appeal to Councils for City Property on Carson Street.

At the request of the playground committee of the Civic league, Magistrate Vilchestain is to call a meeting next week of the business men of the South Side for the purpose of adopting means for securing the city property on Carson street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, for a playground.

The property was purchased as an approach to the Twenty-second street bridge, which is now completed, and leaves about one acre upon which dwellings stand.

It is the intention to persuade councils to raze the buildings. The business men propose to equip the grounds. The property was purchased by the city for $950,000 and was paid for out of the bond issue of 1901.

MACHINISTS IN NAVY TO GET HALF HOLIDAY

President Roosevelt Makes a Popular Move Among Government Employes.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Immense satisfaction prevails in labor circles here because of the success of the machinists at the Washington navy yard in gaining a half holiday on Saturday in the summer months just like the clerical employes of the government departments. It has apparently been a move which makes the president more popular than ever with the International Association of Machinists, to whose delegations he has always given a willing ear.

When it was decided several months ago that the government departments should be closed at 1 o'clock on Saturdays in July, August and September, a delegation of machinists called on the president to make sure that the executive order applied to them. They were told it would, but the disbursing officers at the navy yard declared that the per diem employes, which included the machinists, must forfeit a half day's pay if they enjoyed half holidays. A delegation of machinists immediately called on the president and presented resolutions condemning these subordinates whom it was claimed violated the executive order.

President Roosevelt took the question up vigorously. Controller Tracewell today said the president had the right by executive power to give the machinists a half holiday with pay on Saturday, but this did not apply to Labor day or inauguration day.

NEGROES HANG WREATH ON COMMANDER'S TOMB

Striking Incident Marks Close of the National Encampment of the G. A. R.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The thirty-eighth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was practically brought to a close today by the departure of several thousand veterans from the city and by the adjournment of the conventions of the various organizations which are branches of the G. A. R.

A reception by the Daughters of the Revolution to Mrs. W. W. Blackmar, wife of the new commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.; to Mrs. John L. Bates, wife of Gov. Bates, and to Mrs. Patrick A. Collins, wife of Mayor Collins, was a feature of the day's program.

Ida E. Warren of Worcester was elected national president of the Daughters of Veterans today. Bertha Martin of Ohio was elected senior vice president; Myrtle Kramer of Illinois, junior vice president; Rose Kirsch of New York, chaplain, and Carrie Kilgore of Philadelphia, treasurer. The office of patriotic instructor was created and Etta Green of Massachusetts was chosen to fill it.

Negro veterans of the G. A. R., representing the departments of Mississippi and Louisiana, today placed wreaths of laurel on the Robert Gould Shaw tablet opposite the state house on Beacon street. There were 200 negro veterans in the party which decorated the tablet. Col. Shaw commanded a Massachusetts regiment, composed entirely of negroes, during the civil war.

POLICEMEN ON THE OUTS OVER A BASEBALL GAME

East End Officers Are Angry Because Central Men Failed to Be on Hand to Play.

"They are cowards and were afraid of us;" this could be heard on all sides at the East End police station last evening.

The officers there have a well organized baseball team which they are proud of. They went out early yesterday morning to play a team composed of policemen from Central station. The latter failed to appear, however, and much to the chagrin of the East Enders they had to leave the field with a 9-0 victory.

Lieut. William Hilty is manager of the East End team and pictured his feelings las tevening by saying:

"It would not have been so bad, but they challenged us; asked us to go out and play them, and then backed down. We don't play just for the sake of winning. We like the exercise and enjoy it. There is fun even in losing, and the recreation is always good."

John Toole and John Vandall are the twirlers for the aggregation and William Hilty, Jr., and Morris McCarthy are the backstops. They, with the rest of the team, allege that the No. 1 men got something in the way of a "tip-off" that they had a hard nut to crack and then suddenly weakened. It will be a long time before the dove of peace hovers over the policemen of the two districts. On next Monday morning the East End station will play the J. J. Reilly team on the Baum street grounds and show what they can do.

WOMAN FOOLED BOARDER.

Electrician Alleged to Have Fought to Escape Paying Bill.

Constable R. H. Killen arrested William Ford last evening in Frankstown avenue on information sworn out by Mrs. Loretto J. Dillon, charging assault and battery. Mrs. Dillon lives in Dean street. She alleges that Ford, who is an electrician, boarded at her home for some time and owed her about $30, and that he tried to leave the place while she was away from the house.

The woman happened home, she says, about the time Ford was ready to leave with his goods, and the man, enraged at being caught, tried to throw Mrs. Dillon down stairs, says the information. Mrs. Dillon claims she was handled roughly before Ford succeeded in getting away. The affair took place Thursday night. Ford was placed in jail to await a hearing, which will be held Monday.

COTTON MILLS WILL PAY FORFEIT IF THEY START

ROMANCE SHATTERED BY BURGLAR HUSBAND

Bride of George Sewell, Pittsburgh, Breaks Down When She Learns Occupation.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—The discovery that her husband of a few weeks, George Sewell of Pittsburgh, also known as Charles Martin, is a professional burglar has prostrated his pretty young wife, who was Miss Emma Schobert, 19, a leader in Queen City society.

Sewell is charged with the burglary of the Walker residence, Walnut Hills. Mrs. Sewell met him during the Elks reunion. He represented himself to be a traveling salesman in prosperous circumstances, and when he proposed marriage she accepted, and they were married July 22, after an acquaintance of less than two weeks. Mrs. Sewell returned to her home after the marriage.

Today Mrs. Sewell read in the papers that one Sewell had been arrested for burglary, and called to see if it was her husband. Sewell was lying in the rear of his cell when his wife called. Officers commanded him to come to the front, but when he saw his wife he darted back. The girl wept piteously. Officers had to use force to drag Sewell to the front of the cell for positive identification.

"Go on home. What in ——— are you doing here?" was Sewell's greeting to his wife when finally brought face to face with her.

VENUS IS A SPRINTER.

Colored Girl Outfooled a Constable on the Boulevard—Shots Brought Assistance and She Was Caught.

Venus Page, a young negress, gave Constable Barkley of Alderman Barton's office, a lively run on Grant boulevard last night after she had been placed under arrest on a larceny charge, and but for outside interference would have escaped. Several shots were fired during the chase. Panting and perspiring both constable and prisoner arrived at the jail about 9:30 and the woman was locked up.

The woman was charged by Alice Logan with stealing clothing and jewelry from her home. Both women live in the same house on Grant boulevard, and Constable Barkley, armed with a search warrant, located the stolen articles in the Page woman's rooms. He placed her under arrest. When outside the house the woman broke away and ran down the boulevard and quickly out-distanced Barkley.

"She certainly can run," said Barkley. "I can go some myself, but she went away as if I was standing still."

Seeing she was sure to get away, Barkley pulled his revolver and fired several shots in the air. The shots did not stop the woman, but attracted the attention of a man who caught her as she was passing him.

NEVER TOUCHED HIM.

Burham, Allegheny's Dog of Fate, Has Defied Bullets and Mace.

Allegheny's famous mongrel, "Burham," the dog of the Diamond, has returned to life and Diamond square just as chipper as if he had not again shown his ability to defy every doom. Last Sunday he was shot twice in the head by a police officer and then beaten until any other dog would have died, but instead of dying he took to the Sixth street bridge, found a place of safety in Liberty avenue, and has now returned to his accustomed haunts on the North Side. The cause of the shooting was his biting an Italian boy a day or so before.

"Burham" has been run over by a mail wagon, an automobile and numerous other conveyances. He has fought his way into fame and still defies all comers. When he cannot beat them in fighting he can in running. It is not likely that another attack will be made on him, for yesterday Alderman Abernathy bought him a new collar and a license for a year.

GIFTS FOR NATIVES.

Uncle Sam Will Present Gold Watches and Earrings to Samoan Islanders.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(Special)—As a reward for their friendship and particularly for their action in deeding to the United States recently their title to the island of Manua in the Samoan group, Acting Secretary Darling of the navy department has decided to present the native chiefs under the jurisdiction of the American naval commander at Tutuila with gold watches, earrings and medals.

The acting secretary has made a requisition for an appropriation of the naval contingent fund for this purpose. The United States already owned the island by virtue of an agreement with Germany and Great Britain, but until this deed was signed the other day the native chiefs would not admit what was already a fact—the sovereignty of the United States.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Dr. Bainbridge of New York spoke at the Women's club on the "Preservation of Health." His talk consisted of answers to written questions which were handed him. A number of important questions relating to the gaining and maintaining of health were satisfactorily answered. The next question read was, "What would you do if all the world but yourself were Christian Scientists?" Dr. Bainbridge quickly answered: "I would be compelled to abandon my profession and should then become an undertaker and invest all the money I could lay hold of in burial robes."

Dr. J. M. Buckley expressed his appreciation of this reply and said he considered it a valuable contribution to the literature on the subject of Christian Science.

The Hon. George E. Clarke of South Bend, Ind., lectured on "An American Cataline." The subject aroused great interest, especially as an individual was not named during the introduction. There was no specification, but when Mr. Clarke spoke of one who lived in revolutionary times, the subject of execration and storm; of one whose dignity and grace had never been equaled and on whose name the curses of two generations had fallen, the audience knew that only one American high in public life could answer that description, Aaron Burr. After telling of the ancestors, the early childhood and education of Aaron Burr, Mr. Clarke said:

"As a soldier he displayed courage and fortitude superb, no matter where he fought. And yet this patriot is pillorized in the text books and schools as a murderer, assassin and traitor to the land that gave him birth. We are a peculiar people. We welcome a writer that writes ill of those who have fallen from high estate."

Mr. Clarke then spoke of Burr's wonderful ability as a lawyer; of his matchless love for his daughter and of his entrance into politics. In speaking of the political situation at that time the lecturer said: "Politics were never as black, deadly and venomous as during the years from 1780 to 1800. The yellow press of today is not to be compared to that of 1800."

Mr. Clarke gave a brief biography of Burr's life and pictured vividly his duel, his audacious scheme to found an empire and his closing years.

The annual exhibition of the Chautauqua School of Physical Culture was given this afternoon in the presence of an enthusiastic audience. Mrs. Bishov led a class of 60 women and girls in a series of health exercises. The members range in age from 11 to 70 years, and the courses of instruction vary from that of two weeks to six years. The commencement exercises of this school were held this morning, when Bishop Vincent delivered the address.

REWARD REVIVES SEARCH FOR WAITE

Fugitive Not Seen Since Shot by Officer as He Left Mother's Home.

CRIME SEEMS PREMEDITATED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 19.—The posses searching for Rosewell Waite, who killed Officer Frank Skidmore and wounded Officer John Atkinson Wednesday night, are tired out and the man hunt was not vigorously prosecuted today, until it was learned that the city councils in a joint meeting this afternoon had offered $500 reward for the fugitive, dead or alive. This action on the part of councils furnished a fresh incentive, and tonight there are new faces among the crowds of men who are scouring the country. Wonder is expressed that the fugitive was able to return to his home last night at 10 o'clock and eat a meal. It was supposed that the Waite home was carefully guarded. It was only when ex-Sheriff James H. Brown suggested that more guards be sent there that a detail of regular officers started. When they reached the house they saw a light.

As Officer McKissick knocked on the door the murderer's mother attempted to put up a blind, and then ran into the kitchen. At the same time the footsteps of a man were heard at the other side of the house. McKissick and James Fraley hurried around and saw Waite making for a thicket. Fraley fired three charges of buckshot and McKissick shot with his revolver. Waite screamed, as if wounded. He has not been seen since. The officers found a revolver, which had been hastily thrown aside. A box of ammunition was also found. This morning the house was again searched and Waite's repeating rifle was found in bed. Both weapons are now at police headquarters. Mrs. Waite was arrested today on a charge of aiding and abetting the fugitive. When arraigned before Alderman Ranney she exclaimed: "It's a lie, it's a lie." She could not explain why two plates of half-eaten victuals were found at the kitchen door, where the fugitive had been eating when surprised. She was held under $400 bail for trial and was placed in the county jail.

James Fraley, a brother-inlaw of the Ryan boys, accused of complicity in Waite's alleged chicken stealing, made an important statement at police headquarters today, which would indicate that the shooting of Officer Skidmore was premeditated. Fraley passed Waite's home shortly before the officers arrived Wednesday evening. Fraley wanted Waite to go with him to shoot rabbits. Waite refused, saying he was going to the house "to load up," as the police were coming after him and "somebody was going to get hurt." This morning Waite's tracks were followed from his home through "Grinney hollow," and through the fields in the direction of Edward Roberts' home, where Waite stopped about an hour the night of the tragedy, but the trail was lost.

The condition of Officer Atkinson is somewhat more favorable and his chances of recovery are brighter. The entire police force will attend the funeral of Officer Skidmore tomorrow afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skidmore. The interment will take place at Greenwood cemetery.

FRESH BOOM IN WHEAT TOO MUCH FOR STOCKS

Prices Declined All Along the Line and Closed at the Lowest of the Day—Wheat Made a New High Record and Closed Strong.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

A fresh boom in wheat, which carried prices 2 cents a bushel over the highest previous level, was too much for the New York stock market yesterday. Of the entire list, only one prominent stock, American Smelting common, closed higher than the day before. All the others closed at net declines, and as a rule closing prices were the lowest of the day. Wall street has been ignoring the spring wheat crop situation, and the break in prices at Chicago on Thursday was thought to mark the culmination of the advance and enormous speculation in the grain markets. Yesterday morning there was a reiteration of damage reports from the northwest and a resumption of speculation on a scale that indicated no subsidence in the excitement. No doubt the situation in the northwest is exaggerated, but startling reports have been coming from experts in the trade who would hardly stultify themselves by signing their names to dispatches if there were not good grounds for their statements. Thus Expert Snow, in a dispatch to his Chicago correspondents, stated that he had been over 30 miles of wheat lands in the northwest on Thursday, and that in his opinion the yield of merchantable wheat on a half score of farms would not average "a pint an acre," which meant that in those particular fields the damage was total. In Chicago the May option opened 1½ cents higher at $1 11 and advanced to $1 14⅞. There was a reaction to $1 12, but the market closed at $1 14. Broomhall cabled from Liverpool that private advices to him from Northern France indicated a yield there 25 per cent below last year. The Paris grain market, however, closed lower for the day, and while Liverpool opened higher and advanced fractionally during the day, the foreign markets as a whole are lagging far behind Chicago. Exports, however, showed some improvement, amounting to 1,723,000 bushels wheat and flour, the largest with one exception since last April, but still much below the total for the corresponding week in previous years. The corn market failed to follow the advance in wheat, for the reason that the drought in the corn belt had been relieved, and there were liberal acceptances of the bids sent out by commission houses the night before.

At the opening of the stock market railroad shares were steady to firm, despite the lower quotations received from London and the unusual activity which developed in Pennsylvania, carrying the price up to 124¼, the highest of the year, indicated that shorts were being driven to cover. Baltimore & Ohio, Reading, and the traction issues were all strong and higher, but the granger stocks lagged behind. During the afternoon, when the grain markets were displaying their greatest strength, the stock market weakened, and closing prices for railroad stocks showed declines ranging from ⅛ to 1 per cent.

U. S. Steel preferred opened lower at 59, but during the greater part of the day resisted all efforts to depress the price. Several times it dropped below 59, but easily recovered, although the high price for the day was 59¼. In the final dealings it sold off to and closed at 58⅝. There were many bearish rumors regarding the condition of the iron trade, but there were no new developments, and at the close of the market Steel preferred and the iron market generally had become a secondary factor in the situation. Amalgamated Copper advanced to 55¾, but declined to and closed at 54⅝. American Smelting made a new high price at 65 and closed at 64¾, a net gain for the day of 1 per cent. Sugar remained heavy, selling down to 129⅝ and closing at a net loss of 2⅛ per cent.

There was no change in call loan rates, which closed at ⅛ to 1 per cent. Little or no attention was paid to the preliminary estimates of the movement of money for the week, but a reduction in cash as a result of the shipments of gold to Cuba would not be surprising in today's bank statement.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange there was a moderate increase in trading yesterday and prices were steady to firm. The most active stock was Manufacturers Light and Heat, which advanced to 33 and closed at that price bid. Westinghouse Air Brake was also strong and higher, advancing $3 a share to 133. Small lots of Westinghouse Electric changed hands at 79½ to 79¾, the stock closing at 79½ bid. National Fire Proofing preferred closed at 29½ bid, an advance of ¼. Crucible Steel common sold at 54½ to 55, and the preferred at 95¾ to 96⅜, the latter closing at a net decline of ¼ per cent. U. S. Steel preferred closed 1⅛ per cent lower at 58⅝. Pittsburgh, Youngstown & Ashtabula railroad sold at 70, an advance of $5 a share. There was very little doing in the coal stocks and prices closed unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. R. C. Hall, the Fourth avenue banker and broker, has returned from an extended trip through the west and was in his office yesterday. During his absence he spent much of his time in the Tonopah gold mining camp of Nevada, in which he and a number of other prominent Pittsburghers are largely interested. He made a thorough inspection of these gold properties and is fully convinced from the present outlook that they promise to develop into the richest gold mines in the United States. In the Tonopah Extension mine he reports a remarkable and very unusual occurrence in the development of two distinct ledges. At the 285-foot level the famous Mizpah vein was encountered, and at about the 500-foot level the Valley View ledge was encountered. The former is 30 feet wide and the latter 86 feet. At intermediate levels the Mizpah vein has been regularly encountered, and drifting on each side of the vein showed a maintenance of values. Further development has located the apex of this vein on the Extension property, and expert opinion is that the Valley View apex will also be located within the same lines. The completion of the railroad to Tonopah, with its terminal on the Extension property, will enable the company to economically handle its ore shipments. Formerly these shipments were of selected ores, because of the high cost of transportation in sacks on the backs of mules. Now the shipments will be made in bulk without sorting the ore. Mr. Hall states that at a conservative estimate $3,000,000 worth of ore is now in sight. This mine, together with three other contiguous properties directly west of the original discovery mine, is owned and controlled by Pittsburgh capital, the chief stockholders being officers of the United States Steel Corporation, several Carnegie Steel men and a few prominent bankers and brokers. Mr. Hall drove over the desert to Goldfield, a distance of 30 miles from Tonopah, and stated that the scenes there exceed anything witnessed hereabouts in the days of greatest excitement in the oil business. Goldfield is a city of tents in the midst of a desert which a few months ago had absolutely no signs of life. Some phenomenally high ore has been discovered there, and as a souvenir of his visit Mr. Hall brought back about $10 worth of gold which was the result of a "panning" of a handful of ore which he picked up and which was pounded out in his presence by one of the miners. Assays of ore are reported to have runs as high as $100,000 to the ton.

For a time yesterday all the interest in brokers' offices centered in the Chicago wheat market. There is some talk of the speculation becoming dangerous, but from the margins now demanded by regular commission brokers the general public will be shut out of the trading. A prominent broker stated that his house was now demanding 15 cents a bushel margin on all new business from out-of-town customers, or from new traders. In periods of normal speculation from 3 to 5 cents a bushel is regarded as a safe margin, but under present abnormal conditions from 10 to 15 cents is regarded as none too safe.

Manufacturers Light and Heat was in better demand than for some time past and the price advanced to 33 bid at the close. There were no offerings of the stock.

Chester T. Hoag has been elected a director of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Arthur Davis.

A small buying order in Westinghouse Air Brake caused an advance of $3 a share to 133. The stock closed at 130 bid, 135 asked.

The stock and bonds of the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company have been listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. The capital stock of the company is $1,000,000, all issued. The bonded indebtedness is $650,000, $525,000 of which is issued and $125,000 is held in the treasury to satisfy a lien held by the Washington Electric Street Railway Company, due February, 1927. The company has 13 miles of railway and operates between Washington and Canonsburg. Its president is Francis J. Torrance; vice president, Arthur Kennedy; secretary and treasurer, W. C. Hagen, all of Pittsburgh.

National Lead directors have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable September 15.

There were no sales of Westinghouse Electric in New York yesterday, and only 77 shares changed hands on the Pittsburgh exchange.

The gross earnings of Southern Railway for the second week in August increased $15,815.

During the first half-hour on the New York exchange yesterday one commission house bought 10,000 shares Pennsylvania railroad, advancing the price to 124¼, the highest of the year.

The estimates of the weekly currency movement indicates another addition to New York cash holdings, but it is clear that the current is turning in favor of the interior. Government operations continue to yield large sums to the New York market, which will be a safeguard against depletion by the interior demand so long as the treasury authorities shall not feel constrained to withdraw deposits with the national banks in order to replenish working balances. With the high prices for grain ruling it is not likely that the interior crop moving demand will be less than usual.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

President George W. Dunn in a circular to stockholders of the American Nickel Company, says: "Our latest reports from Nickel state the underground work at the mines is progressing rapidly. In our London mine the lower No. 1 main tunnel is in 1,200 feet: first drift, 120 feet; second drift, 148 feet; incline, 68 feet. Tunnel No. 2, above, total length, 1,177 feet, including drifts, stopes and winzes; air shafts, 142 feet; crosscut with drift, 51 feet; winze, 130 feet. Upraise with drifts, 51 feet; stopes and branches, 361 feet. Tunnel No. 3, 220 feet; air shaft, 65 feet. Tunnel No. 3A, 79 feet. Tunnel No. 4, 72 feet; incline, 42 feet; stopes and branches, 33 feet. Tunnel No. 4A, 30 feet. Tunnel No. 5, 100 feet. Tunnel No. 6, 34 feet. The work on the 1,000-foot shaft is very satisfactory to Superintendent Bell and Foreman Noyes, who have this joint charge of all operations at the mines. On the surface all the machinery and buildings, tramways, roads, etc., are in first-class order. Miners and workmen are contented and there are no fears of strikes. Very little work is being done on our other three mines, or on the town site yet. We expect any day to get full details about our electric plant making nickel and nickel salts."

The annual report and balance sheet of the Broken Hill Mining and Development Company has just been issued and shows a good record for the year. During the year gold to the amount of $27,190 15 has been saved on the plates in the mill. Concentrates shipped amounted to $5,619 28 and crude ore to $5,294 17, being the net amount after deducting freight and treatment. In addition to these sums $490 has been obtained on account of lead bounty on lead ore and concentrates shipped. The total receipts have therefore amounted to nearly $40,000. The milling ore shows a net value recovered of $8 10 and the crude ore shipped a net value of $50 08.

A short test run with hydraulics on the grounds of the Libby Placer Company, situated 25 miles south of Libby, Mont., resulted in a $6,000 cleanup of gold.

The new two compartment shaft being sunk on the Golden Chariot, in the Bear gulch district, Oregon, is down 30 feet. A station will be cut at the 100-foot and a crosscut run to the vein.

The timber for the construction of the mill for the Fortune Mining Company in the Sumpter district, Oregon, is on the ground, and the building will be ready to install the machinery upon its arrival.

Utah mining companies this week paid $292,000 in dividends.

It is reported from Anaconda that H. L. Frank has been offered $1,000,000 for the Southern Cross mine in the Georgetown district. The vein is a gold ore, contained in an iron matrix, making it a very valuable ore for fluxing. The vein is over 100 feet wide and carries between $30 and $40 to the ton. Lessees on the Southern Cross last month cleaned up $35,000 net profit on their operations, and they are employing every available team to haul ore, as their lease will expire soon.

The Cable and the Gold Coin mines are running full blast and the stamp mill at the latter is running its complement of stamps.

The Moose Lake Mining Company is getting things in shape to start its mill. This company owns a promising property from which considerable ore has been shipped and milled. The vein is 25 feet wide and averages on the plates $8 a ton, with a rich streak three and one-half feet wide, which mills from $80 to $108.

LIBERTY AVENUE HOTEL PROJECT

A Ten-Story Hostelry to Cost $350,000 Will Probably Be Built on Patterson Holdings.

SEWICKLEY SALE OF $18,000

A 10-story hotel for Liberty avenue is one of the downtown improvements proposed which is reasonably sure to go through next year. The site for the proposed hotel is the Joseph Patterson holdings, 90x110 feet, in the north side of Liberty avenue, between Tenth and Eleventh streets and nearly opposite the approach to the Union station. The property belongs to the Patterson estate and is held at $4,000 a front foot. At present the buildings consist of four three-story brick structures used for stores and warerooms. The leases on most of these expire next April. Recently one of the owners of the property came to Pittsburgh from Philadelphia to consider the hotel proposition. As a result of his visit preliminary sketches are being drawn by a local architect for a 10-story hotel which will cost about $350,000. As planned, the hotel will be a plain, substantial building containing about 200 rooms. These will be provided with baths and other conveniences that go to make up a hotel whose rates are from $2 to $3 a day. A prominent hotel man in this city is negotiating for a 20-year lease on the building, which, if built at all, will be started next April. A hotel of this kind in this locality has been talked of several times, among the Patterson proposed builders being the Hargis Brothers, who own 66x110 feet at the northwest corner of Liberty avenue and Tenth street. Few doubt that it would pay well, as in addition to the great need for a first-class hotel of any kind in the downtown section, the location of this one would assure a large transient patronage. The Patterson property is handled by the Commonwealth Real Estate Company and at their offices it was learned yesterday that the site would in all probability be improved with a new building next April, although no definite plans for the hotel had been agreed upon.

Good Sale of Sewickley Frontage.

Three acres of vacant frontage at Sewickley belonging to Erastus McKelvey has been sold for $18,000. The reputed buyer is a Bellevue man who, it is said, will improve the land with good houses. The property lies a short distance south of the Park Place hotel and faces about 400 feet in the south side of Chadwick avenue extending 500 feet or more southward to the Ohio river. It adjoins the Tracy and Miller properties and is near the Maple Grove allotment. Last year it was laid out in lots, which average 40 and 50x100 feet.

Through the office of Coyle Brothers the Prospect Land Company has sold to J. Logan 102x200 feet at the southeast corner of Beechwood boulevard and Northumberland street, Twenty-second ward, for $13,200, or $130 a front foot. The buyer contemplates building two $10,000 residences. The buyer of the 100x200 feet on the opposite corner, which was sold through the same firm for $13,000 Thursday, was John M. Hastings of the J. M. Hastings Lumber Company and not John G. Hastings, ex-delinquent tax collector of Allegheny, as published in some sources. These two sales make a total of over $84,000 worth of property that Coyle Brothers have sold out of the Prospect Land Company's plan on Squirrel Hill since July 1.

George C. Norris & Co. and I. Goldstein have sold for Nathan Godinsky to Samuel D. Waxman 1824-1826 Center avenue, near Overhill street, Eleventh ward, for $13,600. The lot is 40x100 feet and is improved with two three-story brick buildings which rent for $140 a month.

Through the agency of J. B. Elder & Co. M. Elder has bought from David T. Riffle 60x200 feet in the east side of Murray Hill avenue, near Fifth avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $6,000 and from John M. Wanner a similar lot in the same street for a like price. The buyer will build four reception-hall brick houses to cost $30,000.

Another Cement Block Company.

The rapid growth of the cement block industry in Pittsburgh is further emphasized by the organization of the Cement Block Building Company, making the fourth concern of its kind now operating here. The company has a capital of $10,000 and the following men have asked for a Pennsylvania charter: O. A. Holtz, retail coal and real estate agent; H. C. Clark and Charles A. Graham. The company will shortly build a plant that will have a capacity of 600 blocks a day. These will be made of mill slag and Portland cement and will be of all sizes up to 40 inches long. Sills and window ledges will be a specialty of the firm. This company has now under contract 16 cement block houses to be built in the East End, Sheraden and on the Hilltop. Over 150 houses of this kind are going up in Greater Pittsburgh this summer. It is claimed by experts that the cement-block houses, which is admitted to be more durable than the ordinary brick house, can be built 12 per cent cheaper than a dwelling with brick veneered walls, and nearly 20 per cent cheaper than one with walls of solid brick. Contractors claim that they can also figure on cement block houses at a cost that compares very favorably with frame dwellings.

The Lindmore Apartment Company is the name of a holding company for which a charter has been asked by W. H. Foster, C. G. Jones and J. P. Robbins. The company will take title to the Lindmore apartments, which stand on the Lindsay property in Ridge avenue, near Allegheny avenue, Allegheny. The building, which has just been completed, contains 12 flats of six rooms each, which will rent for $50 a month.

Brings in $20,000 a Year.

Augustus Hartje has leased the last quarter of his new warehouse in Second avenue to Speck, Marshall & Co., dealers in mill supplies, for a period of six years. The firm will have eight floors and basement at 314 Second avenue. Ross, Shannon & Staving, candy manufacturers, have leased the quarter at 312 Second avenue for a like term of years. The entire First avenue end of the warehouse has been rented to the Huhtli-Hunter Company, dealers in mill supplies, for 10 years. The building is now rented so that the income is slightly over $20,000 a year.

Mrs. James W. Arrott will build a 12-room colonial brick and stone house in the Beaver road, Sewickley, from plans by Architects Struthers & Hannah. The residence will cost at least $20,000 and will be near the property of Frank Stoner, on a plot which has just been opened up. Mrs. Arrott lately sold her former residence at Osborne to James W. Grove, president of the Monongahela National bank.

Architects Mueller & East are receiving estimates on the building to be used jointly by the First National bank and the Citizens Savings and Trust Company of Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

Architect H. D. Gilchrist is taking bids on a residence of the English style for E. E. Arensburg in Callowhill street.

Bids are being taken by Architect A. E. Linkenheimer for four houses, to be built by William Patterson in Hawthorne avenue, Keating West View.

WHEAT SKYWARD; RUNAWAY MARKET

September Goes to 1.10½; December to 1.12⅛, While May Touches 1.14⅞.

REPORTS OF RAIN THE CAUSE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Rains on wheat fields ready for the reaper shot prices up over 5 cents a bushel here today to figures not heretofore reached in this year's trading. Wheat for September delivery went to $1.10½ a bushel, an advance of 3¼c. December went to $1.12⅛, or 4c over the previous close, and touched $1.14⅝, a jump of 5¾c. The close was strong at about a cent under the top figures of the day. Corn, in the face of high wheat values, closed one cent below yesterday's final figures. Oats are down a shade. Provisions varied from 2½c to 7½c off.

From the start both the public and professionals in the wheat trade appeared imbued with bullish enthusiasm and bought eagerly but wildly. Initial trades were at advances of 1¾c to 2c for September at $1.08 to $1.08¼ and 1⅝@1¾c to 2¼@2¾c for December at $1.09⅛ to $1.09¾. There appeared to be many causes for the higher market, but the most potent of them did not become operative until the session was well under way. There were rains in Manitoba and the northwestern states which threatened dire results in fields spread by the black rust, where harvesting is about to commence or is actually in progress. Cables were higher and it was predicted that Texas millers would soon be in the market for wheat. In spite of these influences, the bears gained control of the early market and on heavy realising sales prices receded to $1.07⅝ for September, and $1.08⅛ for December. Strongly contradictory reports on rust in Manitoba appeared for a time to create an uncertain feeling. With cyclonic force and suddenness, however, reversion of feeling came and pessimism seemed to seize all alike. The northern states fired the buying. A message from Minnesota point was to the effect that not a pint of grain was to be found in a shock in many fields. "Not 100 bushels of plump wheat in 1,000 acres," the telegram read. From that time on there were relapses, but only momentary ones and with each apparent advance a new high point was reached. September, under the onslaught was carried up to $1.10⅝, and December to $1.12⅝. There was heavy selling from the high point through the weight of offerings. September sold back to $1.08⅝, but reacted and closed at $1.11⅜. May was strong in the final trading, closing at $1.14. Bradstreets reported exports of wheat and flour for the week at 1,703,000 bushels, against 1,282,000 bushels for the previous week, and 3,373,000 bushels for the corresponding week a year ago. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 367,300 bushels. Primary receipts were 780,800 bushels, against 470,800 bushels last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 189 cars, against 192 cars last week and 261 cars a year ago.

The corn market was not much benefited by the strength of wheat, this fact causing no little surprise in trade circles. A general selling rains of the previous 24 hours had relieved all fear of drought damage and the market was heavy. Large acceptances of country bids against which a large amount of selling was indulged in, also operated against the price. September opened steady, ⅜c lower to ½c higher at 54@54¼c, but sold down to 53⅝c, rallied to 54¼c on bullish enthusiasm born chiefly from wheat and declined again to the closing figure ½c off. Corn at 53⅝@54c. December started ½@⅝c to ¼@⅝c off, and following the same course touched 52¼c, rallied to 53½c, closing at 52⅝c. Local receipts were 183 cars, of which 22 cars were of graded contract.

The oats market was steady, but only moderately active. With liberal receipts and relief to the corn crop there was not much to stimulate buyers. September opened a shade to ⅜@⅝c higher at 34¼@34½c, advanced with wheat to 34⅞c, but eased off again to 33¾c, closing at 34@34¼c. Local receipts were 359 cars.

Provisions started firm, presumably because of better prospect for the corn crop. Packers reported a good consumptive demand and the tone for a time was helped by higher prices for live hogs. Support was lacking during the last hour of trading, however, and values suffered. September pork closed 2½@3c lower at $11.72½@11.75. Lard was off 5@7½c at $6.87½@6.90. Ribs were down 2½@3c at $7.42½. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 131 cars; corn, 165 cars; oats, 354 cars, hogs, 10,000 head.

The developments in wheat today were of the wild and frenzied sort that denote absolute public control of the markets. Not so heavy a speculation here, but an extraordinary advance in prices and crop news from the northwest so sensationally bad as to almost stagger the bulls themselves. FLOUR HAS NOT QUIT; BIG GLUT IN PLUMS

Potatoes Show Improvement. Cheese Tends Upward—Big Advance on Corn.

The flour market was in a more excited condition here yesterday than it has been for several years. The market continues very strong and the advance yesterday amounted to 20 cents a barrel on spring and winter patents. Seven-dollar flour is thought to be not very far away. Coffee is also tending upward very strongly and advances may be looked for again very soon.

There is a decidedly good feeling on fish; mackerel that is coming in now is of good quality and demand for it is quite satisfactory. Demand keeps well for hens and spring chickens, though both are very scarce. Turtles are commanding much better prices and quotations have been changed. The cheese market is firmer. While the market has naturally fallen off still it keeps up remarkably well for so late in the season. Many factory men have been holding back in anticipation of higher prices. Skims are generally quiet. Butter receipts are large and there is a free offering of average fancy creamery.

The local produce market is now experiencing a glut in fruits and the bottom has dropped out of nearly every market in this line. Rockyford cantaloupes dropped in price yesterday, arrivals were light at the yards, but street men are overstocked and crowded for room. There are more plums on hand now than ever before in the history of the Pittsburgh market and they are selling at almost any price. Potatoes look better.

Corn is quoted higher; car has advanced to 67c and 68c; it offered yesterday at 65c and 66c. Oats are also higher; quotations are advanced a half cent; receipts are none too heavy on oats now and the market will likely improve from this time on.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 10 cars hay, 2 cars rye, 2 cars straw, 11 cars oats, 4 cars corn; Baltimore & Ohio, 5 cars hay, 2 cars straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars oats.

Dealers charge an advance of about $3 00 per ton on hay and 5 to 10 cents per bushel on oats from warehousers in less than carload lots.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points on reiterated reports of damage from the recent frosts, cables claiming damage from thunderstorms and rains in Rio, and small estimates for the present Santos crop. The firmness was encouraged by higher European cables and with but little coffee offering in relation to the demand, the market fully generally firm and closed steady at a net advance of 10 to 15 points. Sales were reported of 69,500 bags, including September at 6.55@6.60c, November at 6.75c, December at 6.85@6.90c, February at 6.65@6.70c, March at 6.15@6.20c, April at 7.30c, May at 7.30@7.35c and July at 7.45@7.50c. LABOR AND WHEAT UNSETTLE BUSINESS

Dun's Report Warns Against Speculative Fever Now Dominating Grain Market.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Confidence in continued improvement of trade has been somewhat unsettled by sensational events in the wheat market, and the lack of harmony between labor and capital. It is becoming evident that estimates of the wheat crop must be reduced, although other agricultural news is much better than usual. So far as the power of the farmer is concerned, prices have risen so sharply that any loss in quantity promises to be made up, but this obvious fact is not appreciated by those dealers who are making less preparation for future trades.

Some disappointment is also felt by those who counted upon an early resumption of activity in building operations and other industries, hampered by labor controversies. Otherwise news of the week has contained much of an encouraging nature.

In several manufacturing lines there is less idle machinery and visiting retail buyers have stimulated jobbing trade, especially in dry-goods and kindred lines. Railway earnings thus far reported for the first week of August show a small gain of 1.4 per cent, as compared with last year's figures, whereas recent preceding weeks showed more or less loss in comparison with 1903.

MAKE DOLLARS FROM NOTHING

Thomas W. Lawson Tells Another Story on "Frenzied Finance" in Copper Deal.

DISCUSSES POWER OF MONEY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Everybody's Magazine today contains another installment of Thomas W. Lawson's "Frenzied Finance." It tells why he consented to continue the deal, and gives methods by which the Standard Oil system makes millions out of nothing. He says that when the change in the plans for the flotation of the Amalgamated were changed so that property bought for $39,000,000 was to be unloaded on the public for $75,000,000, he was so deeply involved that withdrawal meant ruin to him and to his friends whom he had induced to go into the deal, and besides he had been convinced that the properties really were worth the higher figure. At that, when the division of profits was made, he was cheated out of half his share. Continuing he said:

At no time in the history of the United States has the power of dollars been as great as now. Freedom and equity are controlled by dollars. The laws, which should preserve and enforce all rights, are made and enforced by dollars. It is possible today, with dollars, to "steer" the selection of the candidates of both the great parties for the highest office in our republic, that of president of the United States, so that the people, as a matter of fact, must elect one of the "steered" candidates. It is possible to repeat the operation in the selection of candidates for the executive and legislative conduct and control of every state and municipality in the United States, and with a sufficient number of dollars to "steer" the doings of the lawmakers and law enforcers of the national, state and municipal governments of the people, and a sufficient proportion of the court decisions to make absolute any power created by such direction.

Make Dollars from Nothing.

I shall go further and say that there exists today uncontrolled in the hands of a set of men a power to make dollars from nothing. That function of dollar-making, which the people believe is vested in their government alone and only exercised under the law for their benefit, is actually being secretly exercised on an enormous scale by a few private individuals for their own personal benefit. This, I am well aware, is a startling statement, but not more so than the facts which support it. Throughout the country today we have all grown accustomed to the spectacle of men who, poor yesterday, today display more dollars than the kings and queens of olden times controlled. In flaunting this money these men proudly boast: "We made all this in a night, and are going to multiply it five or 50 fold tomorrow night."

I can better set before my readers this trick of finance by which "made dollars" are brought into existence by an illustration than by any process of definition. Let us suppose that the United States government at Washington, the only power legally entitled to issue money for circulation among the people, puts forth a particular $10,000.

B, a western farmer, tills his soil and receives, by the sale of his wheat, the particular $10,000, which he then deposits in the bank. The bank, being a part of the government machinery, only receives, holds and uses the $10,000 under safeguards provided for by the laws of the land, so hereafter B's material life is conducted on the basis that he is the full and actual possessor of $10,000. At this stage enters C, the private thing.

Arbitrarily Fixes Value.

C purchases with $3,300 (B's money), which he borrows from the bank, a copper mine, depositing the title which he receives from the seller with the bank as collateral for the $3,300. After purchasing, he arbitrarily calls the copper mine worth $10,000—arbitrarily because his act is not controlled nor regulated by any of the laws of the land—arbitrarily because the actual cost, $3,300, is his secret and his alone. Then, arbitrarily, C organizes his $3,300 of copper property into the Arbitrary Copper Company and issues to himself a piece of paper, which he arbitrarily stamps "10,000 stock dollars." This he takes to the bank and by loan or other device exchanges it for the remaining $6,700 belonging to B, and thereafter C conducts his affairs on the basis that he is the possessor of $6,700, his "made dollars" in the transaction.

Right here is the secret device, the financial trick, by which the greatest power in the land has been created, and by which the people can be absolutely plundered of their savings for the benefit of the few.

The plan pursued in the flotation of Amalgamated Copper was, Mr. Lawson says, precisely that outlined in the illustration given, except that the purchase price was $39,000,000, the price at which it was unloaded was $75,000,000 and the profits $36,000,000, the National City bank being the intermediary. Continuing he says:

Thirty-six million dollars for one honest day's labor. $36,000,000—and Alaska cost us but $14,000,000 and Spain relinquished to us her claims on the Philippines for only $20,000,000. Thirty-six million dollars—more than 100 times as much as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and "Abe" Lincoln together secured for the patriotic labors of their lifetimes. And this vast sum was taken from the people to enrich men whose coffers were already as the results of similar operations, so full of dollars that neither they nor their children, nor their children's children could count them—as the people count their savings, a dollar at a time—as thoughtlessly taken as are the apples that the schoolboy steals after he has eaten so many that he can eat no more.

PACKET NAVIGATION NEXT.

River Interests Speculate on Time for Opening Traffic in the Ohio.

There is considerable speculation as to when the next navigable rise will come and as to how soon packet navigation will open down the Ohio. Col. Theodore Poe, renowned for predictions of this kind, has gone to the headwaters of the Monongahela with his almanac and will be back soon with an authoritative opinion as to when higher water will be here. Some look for it within a month and some do not expect a change before October.

The Queen City is now being used in the trade between Memphis and Arkansas City. The Virginia and Keystone State are tied up at Cincinnati; the Kanawha is at Gallipolis, the Greenland and Greenwood are at Marietta and the Lorena is at Zanesville. All are ready for resumption of traffic on a day's notice, except the Keystone State, which will go on the ways soon and have extensive repairing to her hull. The boat will also be repainted and overhauled in a way that will make her look like new. The Rose Hite is at Brownsville, where she is being overhauled, including new smokestacks.

BID ARCHBISHOP FAREWELL.

Friends Gather at Station When England's Primate Goes to Liverpool.

Sails for America.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Davidson, and Mrs. Davidson, accompanied by two chaplains, were bidden farewell at the railroad station here today by a large number of friends, on his departure to join the White Star line steamer Celtic, which sailed for New York from Liverpool today. It appears that the special permission of King Edward had to be obtained before the archbishop could accept the invitation to visit the United States.

Secretary Henry White, representing the American embassy was among those who bade farewell to the prelate, who is the first occupant of that position who ever crossed the Atlantic.

Adirondack Club Burned.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Fish Rock camp, owned by Isaac Seligman of New York, located on Upper Saranac lake, and said to have been the most beautiful and expensive camp in the Adirondacks, has been destroyed by fire of unknown origin. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Chemist's Experiment Cost Life and Home

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—George L. Englis, an amateur chemist, while endeavoring to make a photographic flashlight powder, brought about an explosion that fatally injured him, severely hurt his wife and destroyed his residence, which cost $12,000.

BEER MONEY WAS TO REDUCE NOTE

Novel Method of Paying a Debt Shown in an Affidavit of Defense to a Suit.

CREDITORS AFTER MERCHANT

A novel method of paying off a note is shown in an affidavit of defense in the suit of F. W. Fuchs against Philip Amen. He says the note matured six years ago. Amen says he kept a saloon, rented from the plaintiff, and also paid him $1 50 a barrel in excess of the market price for beer, the excess to be credited on the note. The balance, he says, was paid by the plaintiff taking some of his personal property.

The following executions were issued: The William H. Holmes Company vs. F. T. Von Chrzanowski, $303; J. C. McNeil, $352; S. O. Rhodes vs. Wilson, Bailey & Co., $19,237 50.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was entered against P. J. Leonard, fish dealer, of the Pittsburgh market. The petitioners, A. Booth & Co. and Leonard Bros. of Pittsburgh and J. W. Chew of Baltimore, file claims amounting to $1,331. They allege that while insolvent the alleged bankrupt allowed his property to be transferred to George H. Gledhill with intent to defraud his other creditors.

In the juvenile court Roy Harvey was adjudged guilty of stealing some newspapers on a charge made by E. C. Edick, an Oakland news dealer. Sentence was suspended. The boy is said to have stolen the papers from houses after they had been delivered by a carrier. The boy denied the charge, but the court thought otherwise.

J. W. Johnston, in an affidavit of defense to the suit of the Monongahela Light Company to recover for electricity used, sets up the defense that he was employed by the plaintiff company to assist in obtaining a franchise for the company in Patton township, and that he is entitled to $100 for his services.

The Three Rivers

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 19.—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock this evening marked 5.2 feet and falling, making a fall of .2 foot during the last 24 hours. Weather clear and pleasant, partly cloudy this afternoon with showers. Today's departures of packets were: Tacoma for Pomeroy, Courier for Maysville, Indiana for Louisville. There is a stagnation along the river during the present stage of water. No towboats are moving except those which are taking care of coal fleets. The river interests were represented at a meeting of the Receivers and Shippers' association today on the floor of the chamber of commerce. Among those present representing the river were: Capt. R. W. Wise, superintendent of the Memphis & Cincinnati Packet Company, and Commodore F. A. Laidley, general manager of the Cincinnati, Portsmouth & Big Sandy Packet Company. All of the rivermen were interested in the work of the association and indorsed the action taken on switching. A company has been formed for the purpose of erecting a river and rail transfer from the river level to the front street grade for the purpose of hauling freight in the heart of the business district. Today it was announced that an elevator would be built from the level at the foot of Vine street to Water street. The erection of this elevator will eliminate the extra charges, which are paid now for the cost of hauling freight up the steep grades of the levees and wharves. The Alice Brown is undergoing repairs on the Kentucky side. She will be pulled out on the ways for repairs to her hull as soon as the cradles are vacated. Heavy showers have fallen in this neighborhood in the last 24 hours and Forecaster Bassler predicts there will be some heavy rains by noon tomorrow.

Traps Were Lowered.

Because the drainage of water was found to be interfering with work on another government dam, the bear traps of dam No. 6, just completed in the Ohio river at Merrill, near Beaver, were lowered yesterday morning. The traps will not go up again until work has progressed further on the nearby dam which is being built at Freedom. There will be a celebration in honor of the opening of the Merrill dam at Rochester some time in October. A committee has been appointed to arrange for the event, which will be participated in by all towns in that locality. The new dam has been under process of construction for about 12 years and has cost about $1,040,000.

Local River Notes.

The stage of water in the Ohio river according to the gauges at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night, was 2.7 feet and stationary.

The I. C. Woodward will be the Morgantown packet today.

The Columbia left yesterday, Capt. I. L. Reno in command.

A. K. Keally, formerly with the Pittsburgh & Cincinati Packet line, has accepted a position with the Morgantown company.

W. D. Kimble, purser of the Keystone State, of the Cincinnati line, has returned to Cincinnati from a vacation at Mudlavia Springs.

War in the Cincinnati and Louisville trade is to begin today. Capt. Cramer will put the Ben Hur to work there and the White Collar line will put out the Levi Workum. Rivermen here are interested in the situation.

Benjamin Menke and J. W. Menke, brothers, of Cincinnati, left here yesterday afternoon in a steam yacht called "Cincy of New York," for St. Louis. The boat was brought here from Jersey City by rail, where it was made. The boat will carry 25 people and it is the intention to take on a party of that many people at Cincinnati. The craft is 85 feet long and draws 27 inches of water, more than some of the smaller packets. Rivermen here claim that the young men will not be able to go very far with the yacht. The boys said they did not know the river at all, but seemed confident that they could get through.

STRIKERS AT BARNUM ARE ORDERED BACK

This Is Finding of Board of Conciliation in Scales Grievance.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Several grievances of miners who claim that their employers have not lived up to the terms of the anthracite strike commission in all its details, were presented to the board of conciliation of the commission here today. The first matter considered was a complaint from the employes of the Exeter colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. They claim that they are not receiving pay according to the terms of the anthracite strike commission.

The next grievance received was that made by the Pennsylvania Coal Company against its employes at the Barnum colliery near Pittston, Pa. The men went on strike several weeks ago because they claim the scales on which their cars are weighed are not in good working order. They assert that their checkman found that the scales weighed about 1,000 pounds short in a car of three tons, and that the shortage made a difference in their earnings of about $2 10 a day on a full shift of seven cars. The company insists that the scales are in good working order.

In connection with the trouble at the Barnum colliery the board passed this resolution:

"Whereas the employes of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at the Barnum colliery went on strike without first submitting to the board of conciliation their grievance, as provided by award of the anthracite coal strike commission,

"Therefore, Be it resolved by the board of conciliation in order that both the employer and employe may enjoy the benefit of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission, the employes now on strike at the Barnum colliery return to work, and upon failure to adjust the difference existing to the satisfaction of both parties the said differences shall be submitted to the board of conciliation for decision."

The board then took up the checkweighman situation which it has been feared would result in a strike in the coal regions. After a long discussion it was agreed to submit the entire question to Judge Gray of Wilmington for a decision. Judge Gray was chairman of the anthracite coal strike commission.

MAN BELIEVES HE TOOK PAPERS FROM F. K. LOOMIS

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A man giving the name of Franz Schneider surrendered himself to the Birmingham police today, accusing himself of stealing papers "from a person at Southampton, believed to be F. Kent Loomis." The man's story is being investigated by the police, but the latter attach no credence thereto, it being pointed out that Mr. Loomis is not believed to have reached Southampton before death, and that no papers are reported to be missing.

Call for Irrigation Congress.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—The official call for the meeting of the twelfth national irrigation congress, to be held at El Paso, Tex., November 15 to 18, was issued today. The work of the congress has been so greatly enlarged through the increased interest in matters pertaining to irrigation that the executive committee has decided to systematize the work, dividing it into sections: "Save the forests," "store the floods," "reclaim the deserts," and "homes on the land."

These medicines have cured me. When I began your treatment I was not able to do very much, but now I do the work for my family of nine, and feel better to-day than I have for a year.
